Sirica Ponders

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers are trying to persuade U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica that the White House should not have to give any more Watergate tapes to the special prosecutor.

Also today, Sirica takes up what to do with a report from a panel of tape experts on the 18½-minute gap in one of the tapes Nixon turned over earlier. Sirica had said last week that today's hearing on a subpoena for more tapes might be held behind closed doors, indicating that some grand jury testimony might be involved.

The judge said Friday he would not announce until today whether the afternoon session would be open to the public, but he said "it may be necessary to make the hearing an in camera (closed) proceeding."

A memorandum filed by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski on Friday immediately was placed under court seal by Sirica. The judge also said he had instructed all lawyers in the case and their clients not to discuss it.

The panel of experts presented Sirica its report on the 18½-minute gap May 4 after nearly six months of study. Lawyers in the case had been given until today to "study the draft and communicate with the panel about it."

The gap is in a recording of a conversation between Nixon and then-White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman on June 20, 1972. Testimony at a hearing last winter disclosed that the missing portion deals with Watergate.

In a preliminary report to Sirica last Jan. 15, the experts reported that a buzzing sound which replaced conversations was "put on the tape in the process of erasing and rerecording at least five, and perhaps as many as nine, separate and contiguous segments."

Three days later, after hearings that produced 2,800 pages of testimony from 23 witnesses, Sirica turned the matter over to the grand jury, concluding that "a distinct possibility of unlawful conduct on the part of one or more persons exists here."

On April 18, at the request of Jaworski, Sirica authorized a subpoena for tapes and documents covering 64 White House conversations.

Jaworski said the conversations concerned Watergate and that he needed them for the trial of seven former Nixon administration and campaign officials in the Watergate cover-up case.

The White House moved May 1 to have the subpoena quashed, saying Nixon has the right to keep his conversations private and had an obligation to protect the constitutional principle of executive privilege.

The committee's subpoena covers conversations ranging from three days after the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic party headquarters in the Watergate office building to June 4, 1973, the day Nixon listened to earlier tapes.

FIRST grade registration at Scioto Elementary School in Commercial Point will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Children registering for first grade must be six years of age by Sept. 30 and must supply a birth certificate and immunization record as required by Ohio Revised Law. School principal Lee Sharp asks that those readers who know of neighbor children who will be starting school next fall to notify their parents of the pre-school registration since it helps that first year to start off smoothly.

not do it again." Collie, in a telephone interview, said his role was to give legal advice to the co-op.

Mehren and Lilly were interviewed by lawyers conducting an independent probe of the milk producers' political activities. The notes of those interviews were subpoenaed recently and made public in court records.

Also made public was a letter that Lilly wrote to Jacobsen when the tax audit began. The letter was dated Aug. 26, 1971, a few months after Jacobsen had enlisted Connally to help persuade President Nixon to raise milk prices. Lilly asked Jacobsen to help again.

Lilly said Doyle Bond, an IRS agent from San Antonio, Tex., the milk producers' headquarters, was asking questions about some suspicious checks. Lilly said Bond had indicated

Nixon Toughens Stand On Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the House Judiciary Committee prepares to subpoena additional White House tapes, a presidential lawyer says "nothing in contemplation" would cause President Nixon to turn over more Watergate tapes.

J. Fred Buzhardt, counsel to the President, was asked Sunday if Nixon's position is that he would refuse to yield either to a Supreme Court ruling or to a congressional demand for the tapes.

"That's certainly my understanding of the present outlook of the President," Buzhardt replied.

Buzhardt added that he does not feel that the White House ever will be faced with a court decision or a demand from the Senate during an impeachment trial for additional tapes.

The House Judiciary Committee, investigating possible grounds for impeaching Nixon, is expected to issue another subpoena this week. The committee resumes consideration of evidence Tuesday.

Buzhardt also charged that a "malicious and vicious" campaign is afoot to poison the public's mind against Nixon by charging that ethnic slurs were deleted from the Watergate transcripts released recently by the White House.

The New York Times, quoting sources with direct knowledge of Nixon's comments, has reported that Nixon used the terms "Jew boy" and "wop" in referring to public officials.

Buzhardt, appearing on CBS' "Face the Nation," said he had listened to "close to 40" of the tapes and heard no ethnic slurs.

However, a source with access to unedited tapes told The Associated Press: "No reasonable person who heard those remarks could possibly deny that they were racial slurs."

Despite increasing clamor for his resignation, Nixon said over the weekend that he would "never give up."

The President was received with general warmth Saturday night by crowds at Vance Air Force Base and at Oklahoma State University.

To shouts of "Hang in there!" and "We're with you!" Nixon responded: "Believe me, that does your heart good."

Another expression of support came Sunday from Nixon's chief supporter among labor leaders, President Frank E. Fitzsimmons of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

"We feel he's no different than any other individual. He should have his day in court, if he is to have one We still support him," Fitzsimmons said on NBC's "Meet the Press."

In weekend appearances, Vice President Gerald R. Ford and Julie Nixon Eisenhower reaffirmed Nixon's determination to stay on the job. The President's daughter declared that her father would fight all the way through a Senate trial, even if "only one senator believed in him."

In discussing the impeachment process, she said: "I think it would be a bad precedent to set for a president to resign unless there were a vote of criminal action."

Ford said Nixon should stay in office and asserted that the nation is "a lot better off than if we had George McGovern," Nixon's 1972 Democratic opponent, in the presidency.

Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss sharply criticized Ford on Sunday, saying: "He waited several years to be critical of CREEP"—the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

"He didn't say a word about them when he was being considered for vice president. He didn't say a word about them when he was testifying. He didn't say a word about them when they were operating," Strauss said.

In another development, Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr. said he will ask the Senate Watergate committee to delay release of its final report until impeachment proceedings are over. The report is due by May 28.

Two national polls taken after release of the Watergate transcripts showed a plurality of those contacted favor an end to Nixon's presidency.

A Harris Poll showed 49 per cent of Americans surveyed want Nixon "impeached or removed from office." The poll showed 41 per cent favor Nixon's continuing in office.

A poll done for Time magazine by the Daniel Yankelovich organization showed 53 per cent of those polled want Nixon to resign or be impeached. Thirtyeight per cent said they want Nixon to remain in office.

And the Roper organization said the majority of Americans polled, even before release of the Watergate transcripts, favored the beginning of impeachment proceedings. Fiftythree per cent of those interviewed believed impeachment proceedings should be started and 33 per cent were opposed. Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., said Nixon should not resign but should be impeached by the House.

If a House majority votes impeachment, the Senate then would try the President, with a two-thirds vote needed to remove him from office.

Cotton said he has not seen any evidence that would implicate the President in criminal activity, and resignation would leave an "unresolved blotch on the history of the country."

Former Kansas Gov. Alf M. Landon, the Republican candidate for president in 1936, said impeachment should proceed and Nixon should not resign.

President Thrown For Losses?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Armchair quarterback Richard M. Nixon was thrown for losses a couple of years ago when he tried his hand calling plays for two pro football teams. He's not doing much better as play caller for his Watergate team.

The Washington Redskins tried a Nixon play at a crucial moment in their playoff game late in 1971 against the San Francisco 49ers. The play lost three yards and the Redskins lost the game 24 to 20.

Three weeks later, the President had another suggestion, this time for the Miami Dolphins who were in the Super Bowl against Dallas. It was a pass play that didn't work, and the Dolphins lost. It was all good fun and every football fan in America could envy the President and sympathize with him.

But Watergate and the resultant impeachment investigation are not games. The stakes are Nixon's survival as President. The opposition is tough and members of his own team are rebelling at the President's play calling.

So far, the President has depended on dramatic gestures to reverse the Watergate tide. But each time he has suffered greater losses.

In contrast, special prosecutor Leon Jaworski and Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., have moved much more conservatively.

The focal point of the struggle between the White House and the parallel investigations being conducted by Jaworski and Rodino has been the presidential files and particularly the tapes.

As presidents before him, Nixon has resisted turning over his files either to the courts or the Congress.

But beyond the legal arguments is a strategy aimed at the American people and designed to convince them that the President has told the full story of Watergate and that it shows he had no role in the cover-up.

Both Jaworski and Rodino counter the President's legal arguments with claims he does not have the right to

Red Square Renovated

MOSCOW (AP) — Red Square will be closed until November for repairs including a block-by-block restoration of Lenin's tomb, the Soviet news agency Tass reports.

Numbers have been painted on the red granite blocks of the 44-year-old mausoleum so it can be put back together after it is dismantled.

The work also will include reinforcement of the earth beneath the cobblestone square and a facelift for the Spassky Tower, the main tower of the Kremlin.

Tass explained that intercontinental ballistic missiles and other enormously heavy military hardware that has passed across the square during parades have damaged the granite cobblestones and caused the earth beneath them to sag.

The vast square was surrounded by a high fence Sunday as workmen equipped with cranes, trucks and bulldozers began a round-the-clock work schedule.

Most Truckers Ignore Call For Shutdowns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Truck traffic rolled normally today in most states despite a call for a protest shutdown, but scattered violence flared in Kentucky and Pennsylvania.

Overdrive magazine, a Los Angeles-based publication, called for the shutdown. Independent drivers supported the strike demand for a fuel price rollback, higher speed limits and an audit of oil companies.

Overdrive supported trucker shutdowns in December and February which brought about an increase in freight rates and guaranteed supplies of diesel fuel.

Two shots were fired from passing cars into trucks on Interstate 75 early today in Kentucky, but no one was injured, police said. One incident occurred near London, Ky., and the other near the border with Tennessee.

Pennsylvania State Police said someone firing a high-powered rifle from a bridge shot out the windshield of a trooper's car on the Pennsylvania Turnpike east of Breezewood. The officer was uninjured.

Windshields of three trucks were smashed with rocks in Fayette County, Pa., and pickets tried to halt trucks along U.S. 40 and U.S. 19, authorities said.

A trucker in Bedford County escaped unhurt when his windshield was smashed by a rock thrown from an overhead bridge.

Despite the scattered violence Pennsylvania authorities said trucks were rolling at near normal rates in the state.

Checks around the nation showed truck traffic was near normal today in Delaware, Maryland, Texas, Florida, Massachusetts, Indiana, South Carolina, Alabama, New York, South Dakota and Connecticut among others.

Truckers groups in Minnesota, Nebraska and New Hampshire adopted a wait-and-see position on the shutdown call. A spokesman for independent drivers in Denver said the strike was working there but was not able to provide figures.

Spokesmen for the scores of independent trucker organizations that sprang up during the last strike generally said they either couldn't afford to shut down or didn't think it would do any good.

There were scattered reports from police and truck stops in the Midwest that truck traffic was down slightly early today, and some spokesmen for independent drivers said they were honoring the call.

Men who claimed to represent 18 groups of independents said in Kansas City, Kan., Sunday night that they had just finished meeting with two federal officials and were going to shut down. But there was no immediate indication they were very effective.

In Houston, Tex., early today, about 100 independent drivers pulled into a truck stop and shut down. But there were few similar reports received, and no reports of truck stops being blockaded or closed.

Employees at major truck stops at Cordele, Ga., on Interstate 75, a main north-south highway, and in Bartonsville, Pa., on Interstate 80, the key east-west route into or out of the Northeast, said truck traffic was moving as usual.

In Akron, Ohio, the Council of Independent Truckers, a main force in the last shutdown, said it wasn't supporting this one.

Connally Linked To Milk Co-Op Tax Audit

WASHINGTON (AP) — John B. Connally may have assisted the nation's biggest dairy cooperative in a tax audit that failed to uncover the dairymen's massive illegal political donations and alleged kickbacks, the co-op's former lobbyist is quoted as saying.

Bob A. Lilly, former lobbyist for Associated Milk Producers, Inc., said Connally, then Treasury secretary and in command of the Internal Revenue Service, "may have resolved" the tax matter, according to notes taken by a lawyer who interviewed Lilly.

Also, co-op lawyer Jake Jacobsen once told the milk producers' leaders that Connally had written about the matter directly to R.L. Phinney, the IRS district director in Austin, Tex., an informed source said.

Phinney, a long-time friend and former business partner of Connally, acknowledged that he had been involved in the 1971 audit, but denied that Connally or anyone in Washington had contacted him about it.

Connally couldn't be reached and his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, declined comment.

Jacobsen, once a friend of Connally, hired one of Connally's senior law partners, Marvin K. Collie of Houston, to handle the tax matter. Jacobsen has testified to Watergate investigators that he checked with Connally in advance to "see if it was OK" to hire Collie, several sources said.

George L. Mehren, the milk producers' chief executive, is quoted in court papers as saying that Collie "got them off on that one but said he could he might get a promotion if he could "raise an issue over our questionable expenditures."

Those questionable expenditures may total several million dollars, recent disclosures indicate. But when the audit was over, nothing new had been uncovered—and the milk producers owed no extra taxes.

The IRS disallowed one deduction for the expenditure that Bond had discovered before the audit began—a $90,711.07 payment for a picture book of President Lyndon B. Johnson's messages to Congress, apparently printed at the request of someone in the White House and intended for use at a Democratic party fund-raising dinner in 1968.

Johnson's messages to Congress, apparently printed at the request of someone in the White House and intended for use at a Democratic party fund-raising dinner in 1968.

Although this expenditure was disallowed as a business expense, it cost the milk producers nothing at the time because the item merely was subtracted from the co-op's unclaimed deductions reserved for future years.

What the IRS didn't find includes: —$100,000 paid in cash to Nixon fundraiser Herbert L. Kalmbach in 1969. The co-op recently asserted that this donation was an illegal use of corporate money, and has asked for a refund.

—$91,691 or more in corporate money and services donated to Hubert H. Humphrey's 1968 presidential campaign. Although the IRS found none of this in its 1971 audit, another investigation by IRS agents in Arkansas turned up $22,000 of it after Connally left office. As a result, two top co-op officials have pleaded guilty to federal charges and a third is under indictment.

—$34,500 or more in corporate money for Humphrey's 1970 senatorial campaign in Minnesota.

—Uncounted sums to other state and federal candidates, and to pay salaries and expenses for the milk producers' political trust.

In addition, there is recent evidence that the co-op also was paying huge sums as kickbacks to dairies that were reluctant to pay the high prices the co-op demanded for milk produced by its member farmers.

Federal law prohibits corporate spending in political campaigns and also forbids kickbacks of the kind the milk producers allegedly paid. Such illegal expenditures cannot legally be deducted on tax returns, but the IRS turned up none of this in its 1971 probe.

Sirica Ponders

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers are trying to persuade U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica that the White House should not have to give any more Watergate tapes to the special prosecutor.

Also today, Sirica takes up what to do with a report from a panel of tape experts on the 18½-minute gap in one of the tapes Nixon turned over earlier. Sirica had said last week that today's hearing on a subpoena for more tapes might be held behind closed doors, indicating that some grand jury testimony might be involved.

The judge said Friday he would not announce until today whether the afternoon session would be open to the public, but he said "it may be necessary to make the hearing an in camera (closed) proceeding."

A memorandum filed by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski on Friday immediately was placed under court seal by Sirica. The judge also said he had instructed all lawyers in the case and their clients not to discuss it.

The panel of experts presented Sirica its report on the 18½-minute gap May 4 after nearly six months of study. Lawyers in the case had been given until today to "study the draft and communicate with the panel about it."

The gap is in a recording of a conversation between Nixon and then-White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman on June 20, 1972. Testimony at a hearing last winter disclosed that the missing portion deals with Watergate.

In a preliminary report to Sirica last Jan. 15, the experts reported that a buzzing sound which replaced conversations was "put on the tape in the process of erasing and rerecording at least five, and perhaps as many as nine, separate and contiguous segments."

Three days later, after hearings that produced 2,800 pages of testimony from 23 witnesses, Sirica turned the matter over to the grand jury, concluding that "a distinct possibility of unlawful conduct on the part of one or more persons exists here."

On April 18, at the request of Jaworski, Sirica authorized a subpoena for tapes and documents covering 64 White House conversations.

Jaworski said the conversations concerned Watergate and that he needed them for the trial of seven former Nixon administration and campaign officials in the Watergate cover-up case.

The White House moved May 1 to have the subpoena quashed, saying Nixon has the right to keep his conversations private and had an obligation to protect the constitutional principle of executive privilege.

The committee's subpoena covers conversations ranging from three days after the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic party headquarters in the Watergate office building to June 4, 1973, the day Nixon listened to earlier tapes.

Nixon Toughens Stand On Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the House Judiciary Committee prepares to subpoena additional White House tapes, a presidential lawyer says "nothing in contemplation" would cause President Nixon to turn over more Watergate tapes.

J. Fred Buzhardt, counsel to the President, was asked Sunday if Nixon's position is that he would refuse to yield either to a Supreme Court ruling or to a congressional demand for the tapes.

"That's certainly my understanding of the present outlook of the President," Buzhardt replied.

Buzhardt added that he does not feel that the White House ever will be faced with a court decision or a demand from the Senate during an impeachment trial for additional tapes.

The House Judiciary Committee, investigating possible grounds for impeaching Nixon, is expected to issue another subpoena this week. The committee resumes consideration of evidence Tuesday.

Buzhardt also charged that a "malicious and vicious" campaign is afoot to poison the public's mind against Nixon by charging that ethnic slurs were deleted from the Watergate transcripts released recently by the White House.

The New York Times, quoting sources with direct knowledge of Nixon's comments, has reported that Nixon used the terms "Jew boy" and "wop" in referring to public officials.

Buzhardt, appearing on CBS' "Face the Nation," said he had listened to "close to 40" of the tapes and heard no ethnic slurs.

However, a source with access to unedited tapes told The Associated Press: "No reasonable person who heard those remarks could possibly deny that they were racial slurs."

Despite increasing clamor for his resignation, Nixon said over the weekend that he would "never give up."

The President was received with general warmth Saturday night by crowds at Vance Air Force Base and at Oklahoma State University.

To shouts of "Hang in there!" and "We're with you!" Nixon responded: "Believe me, that does your heart good."

Another expression of support came Sunday from Nixon's chief supporter among labor leaders, President Frank E. Fitzsimmons of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

"We feel he's no different than any other individual. He should have his day in court, if he is to have one.... We still support him," Fitzsimmons said on NBC's "Meet the Press."

In weekend appearances, Vice President Gerald R. Ford and Julie Nixon Eisenhower reaffirmed Nixon's determination to stay on the job. The President's daughter declared that her father would fight all the way through a Senate trial, even if "only one senator believed in him."

In discussing the impeachment process, she said: "I think it would be a bad precedent to set for a president to resign unless there were a vote of criminal action."

Ford said Nixon should stay in office and asserted that the nation is "a lot better off than if we had George McGovern," Nixon's 1972 Democratic opponent, in the presidency.

Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss sharply criticized Ford on Sunday, saying: "He waited several years to be critical of CREEP"—the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

"He didn't say a word about them when he was being considered for vice president. He didn't say a word about them when he was testifying. He didn't say a word about them when they were operating," Strauss said.

In another development, Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr. said he will ask the Senate Watergate committee to delay release of its final report until impeachment proceedings are over. The report is due by May 28.

Two national polls taken after release of the Watergate transcripts showed a plurality of those contacted favor an end to Nixon's presidency.

A Harris Poll showed 49 per cent of Americans surveyed want Nixon "impeached or removed from office." The poll showed 41 per cent favor Nixon's continuing in office.

A poll done for Time magazine by the Daniel Yankelovich organization showed 53 per cent of those polled want Nixon to resign or be impeached. Thirtyeight per cent said they want Nixon to remain in office.

And the Roper organization said the majority of Americans polled, even before release of the Watergate transcripts, favored the beginning of impeachment proceedings. Fiftythree per cent of those interviewed believed impeachment proceedings should be started and 33 per cent were opposed. Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., said Nixon should not resign but should be impeached by the House.

If a House majority votes impeachment, the Senate then would try the President, with a two-thirds vote needed to remove him from office.

Cotton said he has not seen any evidence that would implicate the President in criminal activity, and resignation would leave an "unresolved blotch on the history of the country."

Former Kansas Gov. Alf M. Landon, the Republican candidate for president in 1936, said impeachment should proceed and Nixon should not resign.

In releasing the massive volume of Nixon transcripts, the President hoped to quiet the demands for more tapes and documents. But the gesture forced him to reveal a side of his nature that touched off a new wave of calls for his resignation.

And the demands for evidence are continuing.

The Judiciary Committee is expected to issue another subpoena next week.

But rather than pursue enforcement and precipitate a dramatic confrontation with the White House, Rodino has opted for a more conservative approach. The Judiciary Committee plans to issue subpoenas but avoid attempts to cite the President for contempt of Congress if he fails to comply with them.

It's a less dramatic approach. But the cumulative effect could be to move the impeachment inquiry, in methodical steps, toward its ultimate goal.

Connally Linked To Milk Co-Op Tax Audit

WASHINGTON (AP) — John B. Connally may have assisted the nation's biggest dairy cooperative in a tax audit that failed to uncover the dairymen's massive illegal political donations and alleged kickbacks, the co-op's former lobbyist is quoted as saying.

Bob A. Lilly, former lobbyist for Associated Milk Producers, Inc., said Connally, then Treasury secretary and in command of the Internal Revenue Service, "may have resolved" the tax matter, according to notes taken by a lawyer who interviewed Lilly.

Connally couldn't be reached and his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, declined comment.

Jacobsen, once a friend of Connally, hired one of Connally's senior law partners, Marvin K. Collie of Houston, to handle the tax matter. Jacobsen has testified to Watergate investigators that he checked with Connally in advance to "see if it was OK" to hire Collie, several sources said.

George L. Mehren, the milk producers' chief executive, is quoted in court papers as saying that Collie "got them off on that one but said he could not do it again." Collie, in a telephone interview, said his role was to give legal advice to the co-op.

Mehren and Lilly were interviewed by lawyers conducting an independent probe of the milk producers' political activities. The notes of those interviews were subpoenaed recently and made public in court records.

Also made public was a letter that Lilly wrote to Jacobsen when the tax audit began. The letter was dated Aug. 26, 1971, a few months after Jacobsen had enlisted Connally to help persuade President Nixon to raise milk prices. Lilly asked Jacobsen to help again.

Lilly said Doyle Bond, an IRS agent from San Antonio, Tex., the milk producers' headquarters, was asking questions about some suspicious checks. Lilly said Bond had indicated he might get a promotion if he could "raise an issue over our questionable expenditures."

Those questionable expenditures may total several million dollars, recent disclosures indicate. But when the audit was over, nothing new had been uncovered—and the milk producers owed no extra taxes.

The IRS disallowed one deduction for the expenditure that Bond had discovered before the audit began—a $90,711.07 payment for a picture book of President Lyndon B. Johnson's messages to Congress, apparently printed at the request of someone in the White House and intended for use at a Democratic party fund-raising dinner in 1968.

Although this expenditure was disallowed as a business expense, it cost the milk producers nothing at the time because the item merely was subtracted from the co-op's unclaimed deductions reserved for future years.

What the IRS didn't find includes:

—$100,000 paid in cash to Nixon fundraiser Herbert L. Kalmbach in 1969. The co-op recently asserted that this donation was an illegal use of corporate money, and has asked for a refund.

—$91,691 or more in corporate money and services donated to Hubert H. Humphrey's 1968 presidential campaign. Although the IRS found none of this in its 1971 audit, another investigation by IRS agents in Arkansas turned up $22,000 of it after Connally left office. As a result, two top co-op officials have pleaded guilty to federal charges and a third is under indictment.

—$34,500 or more in corporate money for Humphrey's 1970 senatorial campaign in Minnesota.

—Uncounted sums to other state and federal candidates, and to pay salaries and expenses for the milk producers' political trust.

In addition, there is recent evidence that the co-op also was paying huge sums as kickbacks to dairies that were reluctant to pay the high prices the co-op demanded for milk produced by its member farmers.

Federal law prohibits corporate spending in political campaigns and also forbids kickbacks of the kind the milk producers allegedly paid. Such illegal expenditures cannot legally be deducted on tax returns, but the IRS turned up none of this in its 1971 probe.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, still in the grip of rising interest rates, was mixed and directionless today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was fractionally higher, but losers took a broad lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

The First National Bank of Chicago raised its prime lending rate this morning to 11.4 per cent, directly on the heels of a general rise to an 11 1/4 per cent prime in the banking industry on Friday.

The key interest rate has risen to these unprecedented highs from the 8 1/2 to 8 3/4 per cent range in the space of only about two months.

Today's prices on the Big Board included Pan American World Airways, unchanged at 37 1/2; Thiokol, down 1/4 at 15 1/4; Maremont, down 1/4 at 12, and American Telephone, off 1/4 at 47 1/2.

Combustion Engineering was down 1/4 at 50 1/2. The company noted what it described as major inaccuracies in a Wall Street Journal article which set off heavy selling in the stock last week, while the paper said it stood by the gist of the story.

On Friday the market retreated broadly to finish the week about where it started.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed at 850.44, down 15.33 for the session.

Logan Elm Airs Finances

The Logan Elm Board of Education met Saturday morning to discuss plans for the school year beginning in September. The regular board meeting of May 6 was postponed awaiting the outcome of the operating levy. Board members realized that although the levy was passed, moneys would not be received until January 1975 so a shortage of funds will continue for quite some time.

Since the buses continue to be a major problem in the district, the board decided to discontinue field trips for the remainder of the school year.

An order to purchase five new 66-passenger buses with International chassis and Superior bodies at $12,600 each was accepted along with a stipulation that an additional $1,050 be added for a new mandatory braking system if the buses are not delivered prior to Sept. 15. Superintendent John Henn pointed out to the board that these very same model buses were purchased by a neighboring school system in January for $11,200. Inflation is blamed for the $1,400 increase in four months.

The resignation from Beverly Stahr, secretary at Laurelville School, was accepted. Re-employment of all non-teaching personnel was made by the board. The re-employment included eight secretaries, ten custodial aides, 12 bus drivers, 12 cooks and four teachers aides from the general fund. An additional eight teachers aides were approved for employment under the Disadvantaged Pupil funding pending project approval.

Jean Mills was employed to tutor math students during the summer so that they may overcome any math deficiencies to attend the vocational school in the fall. Summer driver education classes were authorized by the board and Marcus Albright employed to organize and instruct the classes.

Summer employment was authorized for business teacher Amber Bigam to work in the office. William Chandler was appointed by the board as prom advisor for the current year.

Authorization for a school accident insurance plan was made by the board with Hummel and Plum acting as agents for the Guaranteed Trust Life Company.

Superintendent Henn was authorized to gather cost estimates for a cement block building to house the vocational agriculture workshop. The board had been notified by the State Department of Education that the grace period for construction of proper facilities is over. The school district was granted a two-year period in which to correct existing facilities or the state funds in the amount of $14,000 to operate the program would cease.

The board granted approval to schedule girls' competition in the mid-state league in basketball, volleyball and track.

Fifty-two applicants have expressed interest in the head football coaching position consequently the board established a cut-off date of May 15 for accepting applications. Some time immediately after that date interviews will be conducted for the position. Preliminary interviews will be conducted by the high school principal, athletic director and Superintendent Henn. After the number is limited to approximately five applicants, the board will interview the selections made by the interviewers and make the final appointment.

In other action, the board authorized the clerk and superintendent to attend the Ohio School Board Association's clerk-treasurer clinic on June 13 in Westerville. Superintendent Henn was also granted authorization to attend the Buckeye School Administrator's workshop in Cincinnati, June 19-21. Marcus Albright was granted permission to attend the industrial workshop on May 17 in Columbus.

Annexation Petition Short Names

Petitions to annex about 1800 acres of land east of Circleville were withdrawn by J. B. Stout Monday morning for lack of names.

The petitions, presented to Pickaway County Commissioners, contained only 57 names. There are 125 free holders in the area. More than half had to sign.

Commissioners will study a proposal made by Pickaway County Volunteers for Youth before deciding whether to promise local funds for a full-time director for the organization.

The federal government will fund 90 per cent of the $12,000 needed. State and local governments are required to share 5 per cent funding of about $600.

The federal grant will be available for five years according to Dieter Droste, president of the group. It will decrease after five years until funded totally by the county.

The organization, founded last summer, seeks to provide an alternative to probationers in the county and at the same time reduce the case load of the county's two probation officers.

Under the program, volunteers meet with probationers on a one-to-one basis, according to Droste.

A full-time director is needed, he said, to oversee operation of the organization and to solicit additional volunteers.

Currently there are five people volunteering with the group with two more to be assigned later this month. There are about 200 probationers in the county.

Deputies Cite Four In Weekend Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies cited four persons involved in weekend accidents. Two other accidents occurred as a result of the Scioto bicycle tour Saturday.

Dena L. Eden, 32, Columbus, was treated at Mercy Hospital, Columbus, for abrasions when a motorcycle fell over with her.

Ms. Eden was following the bicycle tour, on State Route 104, when she blew her horn to pass the group. A bicyclist swerved causing her to go off the left side of the road.

As a result of that accident, William F. Eden, 33, Columbus, following his wife on a motorcycle, also swerved to miss and lost control of his motorcycle.

He was treated at Mercy Hospital for abrasions.

Gary R. Morrison, 23, Route 2, Laurelville, was cited by Sheriff's Deputy Lawrence Holt, for speed when he was involved in a single-car accident 1:42 a.m. Sunday.

Fleeing the Laurelville marshal on State Route 56, Morrison went off the left side of the road into a ditch.

Deputy J. Philip Brown cited Robert E. Borrer, 22, Columbus, 3:30 a.m. Sunday for speed unreasonable for road conditions, when the car he was driving went off the right side of the road striking a tree.

The auto continued down a fence rolling onto its top.

Sixteen-year-old Thomas E. Drake, 212 1/2 E. Main St., was cited for driving without an operator's license when he was involved in a two-car accident 4:30 p.m. Sunday on State Route 188.

Drake was at the intersection of Route 188 and Bell Station Fairfield Road attempting to make a left turn, when a car driven by William R. Young, 42, Marysville, failed to see the Drake vehicle.

Vandals Hit Autos, Home

City police are investigating five vandalism reports from the weekend and the breaking and entering of a Pickaway St. house.

Tom Tatman, 405 N. Pickaway St., told police that intruders broke into his house Saturday from 10:15 to 11:45 p.m.

Police, who could find no signs of forced entry, said that the family room and two bedrooms were ransacked. Nothing was determined to be missing.

Carolyn Lester, 412 Stella Ave., reported that the mirror on the left side of her car was stolen Saturday.

Tony Click, 118 W. Ohio St., told police that the left-side rear view mirror on his car was struck by an unidentified object and almost torn off.

George Sadler, 469 E. Franklin St., said the rear view mirror on his car was broken off.

Vandals used lip stick and chalk to mark screens on the house of W. E. Clark, 214 Cedar Heights Rd.

Terry Dountz, 503 S. Pickaway St., reported that vandals dented and scratched the right side of a car owned by Bill Dountz and let air out of the right front tire.

Open Letter

Dear Friends,

When the inevitable moment of death in your family occurs, you should immediately call the doctor in attendance, and your clergyman.

The funeral director of your choice should likewise be called. He will notify the coroner, if no doctor was in attendance. You will, of course, also wish to promptly notify your relatives and friends.

Respectfully,

Mader Funeral Home

Logan Elm Airs Finances

The Logan Elm Board of Education met Saturday morning to discuss plans for the school year beginning in September. The regular board meeting of May 6 was postponed awaiting the outcome of the operating levy. Board members realized that although the levy was passed, moneys would not be received until January 1975 so a shortage of funds will continue for quite some time.

Since the buses continue to be a major problem in the district, the board decided to discontinue field trips for the remainder of the school year.

An order to purchase five new 66-passenger buses with International chassis and Superior bodies at $12,600 each was accepted along with a stipulation that an additional $1,050 be added for a new mandatory braking system if the buses are not delivered prior to Sept. 15. Superintendent John Henn pointed out to the board that these very same model buses were purchased by a neighboring school system in January for $11,200. Inflation is blamed for the $1,400 increase in four months.

The resignation from Beverly Stahr, secretary at Laurelvale School, was accepted. Re-employment of all non-teaching personnel was made by the board. The re-employment included eight secretaries, ten custodial aides, 12 bus drivers, 12 cooks and four teachers aides from the general fund. An additional eight teachers aides were approved for employment under the Disadvantaged Pupil funding pending project approval.

Jean Mills was employed to tutor math students during the summer so that they may overcome any math deficiencies to attend the vocational school in the fall. Summer driver education classes were authorized by the board and Marcus Albright employed to organize and instruct the classes.

Summer employment was authorized for business teacher Amber Bigam to work in the office. William Chandler was appointed by the board as prom advisor for the current year.

Authorization for a school accident insurance plan was made by the board with Hummel and Plum acting as agents for the Guaranteed Trust Life Company.

Superintendent Henn was authorized to gather cost estimates for a cement block building to house the vocational agriculture workshop. The board had been notified by the State Department of Education that the grace period for construction of proper facilities is over. The school district was granted a two-year period in which to correct existing facilities or the state funds in the amount of $14,000 to operate the program would cease.

The board granted approval to schedule girls' competition in the mid-state league in basketball, volleyball and track.

Fifty-two applicants have expressed interest in the head football coaching position consequently the board established a cut-off date of May 15 for accepting applications. Some time immediately after that date interviews will be conducted for the position. Preliminary interviews will be conducted by the high school principal, athletic director and Superintendent Henn. After the number is limited to approximately five applicants, the board will interview the selections made by the interviewers and make the final appointment.

In other action, the board authorized the clerk and superintendent to attend the Ohio School Board Association's clerk-treasurer clinic on June 13 in Westerville. Superintendent Henn was also granted authorization to attend the Buckeye School Administrator's workshop in Cincinnati, June 19-21. Marcus Albright was granted permission to attend the industrial workshop on May 17 in Columbus.

Annexation Petition Short Names

Petitions to annex about 1800 acres of land east of Circleville were withdrawn by J. B. Stout Monday morning for lack of names.

The petitions, presented to Pickaway County Commissioners, contained only 57 names. There are 125 free holders in the area. More than half had to sign.

Commissioners will study a proposal made by Pickaway County Volunteers for Youth before deciding whether to promise local funds for a full-time director for the organization.

The federal government will fund 90 per cent of the $12,000 needed. State and local governments are required to share 5 per cent funding of about $600.

The federal grant will be available for five years according to Dieter Droste, president of the group. It will decrease after five years until funded totally by the county.

The organization, founded last summer, seeks to provide an alternative to probationers in the county and at the same time reduce the case load of the county's two probation officers.

Under the program, volunteers meet with probationers on a one-to-one basis, according to Droste.

A full-time director is needed, he said, to oversee operation of the organization and to solicit additional volunteers.

Currently there are five people volunteering with the group with two more to be assigned later this month. There are about 200 probationers in the county.

Deputies Cite Four In Weekend Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies cited four persons involved in weekend accidents. Two other accidents occurred as a result of the Scioto bicycle tour Saturday.

Dena L. Eden, 32, Columbus, was treated at Mercy Hospital, Columbus, for abrasions when a motorcycle fell over with her.

Ms. Eden was following the bicycle tour, on State Route 104, when she blew her horn to pass the group. A bicyclist swerved causing her to go off the left side of the road.

As a result of that accident, William F. Eden, 33, Columbus, following his wife on a motorcycle, also swerved to miss and lost control of his motorcycle.

He was treated at Mercy Hospital for abrasions.

Gary R. Morrison, 23, Route 2, Laurelvale, was cited by Sheriff's Deputy Lawrence Holt, for speed when he was involved in a single-car accident 1:42 a.m. Sunday.

Fleeing the Laurelvale marshal on State Route 56, Morrison went off the left side of the road into a ditch.

Deputy J. Philip Brown cited Robert E. Borror, 22, Columbus, 3:30 a.m. Sunday for speed unreasonable for road conditions, when the car he was driving went off the right side of the road striking a tree.

The auto continued down a fence rolling onto its top.

Sixteen-year-old Thomas E. Drake, 212 1/2 E. Main St., was cited for driving without an operator's license when he was involved in a two-car accident 4:30 p.m. Sunday on State Route 188.

Drake was at the intersection of Route 188 and Bell Station Fairfield Road attempting to make a left turn, when a car driven by William R. Young, 42, Marysville, failed to see the Drake vehicle.

Vandals Hit Autos, Home

City police are investigating five vandalism reports from the weekend and the breaking and entering of a Pickaway St. house.

Tom Tatman, 405 N. Pickaway St., told police that intruders broke into his house Saturday from 10:15 to 11:45 p.m.

Police, who could find no signs of forced entry, said that the family room and two bedrooms were ransacked. Nothing was determined to be missing.

Carolyn Lester, 412 Stella Ave., reported that the mirror on the left side of her car was stolen Saturday.

Tony Click, 118 W. Ohio St., told police that the left-side rear view mirror on his car was struck by an unidentified object and almost torn off.

George Sadler, 469 E. Franklin St., said the rear view mirror on his car was broken off.

Vandals used lip stick and chalk to mark screens on the house of W. E. Clark, 214 Cedar Heights Rd.

Terry Dountz, 503 S. Pickaway St., reported that vandals dented and scratched the right side of a car owned by Bill Dountz and let air out of the right front tire.

Open Letter

Dear Friends,

When the inevitable moment of death in your family occurs, you should immediately call the doctor in attendance, and your clergyman.

The funeral director of your choice should likewise be called. He will notify the coroner, if no doctor was in attendance. You will, of course, also wish to promptly notify your relatives and friends.

Respectfully,

Rusk Against Nixon Resignation

HIGHLAND HEIGHTS, Ky. (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who served under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, said he does not favor President Nixon resigning.

Rusk said if a president is to leave office the proper method "would be by impeachment or election."

He had harsh words for the press, charging the media with "McCarthyism by silence" for not pointing out "99.9 per cent of government officials are honest and decent."

He was in Kentucky Sunday to speak at commencement exercises at Northern Kentucky State College. In his address to 5,000 persons, he stressed for Americans to "keep the nuclear beast in its cage."

Spirits Don't Exist

DEAR ABBY: I don't know if you believe in spirits. I never did, but something happened that really got me thinking, and I don't know who else to ask about this.

When my husband was in Kansas City on a business trip he looked up an old girl friend just for old time's sake, and she told him that I had visited her some years back under some very mysterious circumstances.

Abby, I have never met this woman in my life. In fact, I have never been to Kansas City. Now here is where the spirits come in:

My husband swears that this girl is telling the truth and that somehow my spirit left my body and went to Kansas City to visit Agnes. He says that Agnes described me to a "t," even to the mole on my right cheek, so now I don't know what to think.

Can you explain this? I am all

Ministers Approve New Officers

The Pickaway County Ministerial Association met 9:30 a.m. Monday at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church.

Don Makarius, president, opened the last regular meeting by asking Wayne Wardwell to pray.

Information concerning the Soil Stewardship Week, May 19-26, was distributed among the association.

James Lewis was added to the Preaching Mission Board. The Board reported it has tentatively contacted a speaker for the 1975 mission, scheduled Feb. 2-5, at Community United Methodist Church.

The association approved $401 to be given to the Lowery Lane Mission. It also approved the giving of a gift of $25 to form a slush fund for the Franciscan Meals.

Each fellowship is asked to set up a disaster plan, telling where to dig in the event that their fellowship is destroyed by a tornado.

Officers approved for the coming year, are: Roy Heimbach, president; William Hill, vice-president; Marion Nansel, secretary; Roy Osborn, treasurer.

Stoutsville Students Thanked For Support

Stoutsville students received a letter of appreciation from the Xenia Chamber of Commerce in response to a contribution of $161.10. The students collected that amount to help the tornado victims who were injured or left homeless after the disaster hit the Xenia area.

Some 8,000 students in the ravaged area were forced to attend school at unusual times because seven of the 13 buildings in the Xenia system were destroyed. Only 12 of the 36 school buses remain operable.

High school students now attend

Laurelville Riding Club Elects Officers

The Laurelville Riding Club held a carry-in supper at its May meeting. Officers elected for the year are:

Glen Hinton, president; Sam Gabriel, vice president; Sue Hinton, secretary; Jake Hedges, treasurer; Kim Brown and Starla Van Curen, news reporters.

The Riding Club is having an open western show June 8. The Walk, Trot and Canter 4-H Club from Hallsville is having an open youth show on the grounds May 26 and the Laurelville Hoofbeats 4-H Club is sponsoring one June 23.

All three clubs have been asked and are planning to ride in the Bologna Festival Parade at Adelphi.

The Riding Club and the Hoofbeats 4-H Club are planning a western display for the Laurelville Firemen's Festival.

The next meeting will feature a cookout and ground cleaning.

Beavercreek High School and Central Junior High students were placed in the Ferguson Junior High in Beavercreek. Students from the Warner Junior High attend Park Hills Junior High in Fariborn. School for these students begins at 3 p.m. and is dismissed at 8 p.m.

Sandwiches and milk are the fare for students and regular teachers and officials have adapted to the new locations just as the students. Grade schools are operated on split sessions with home school students attending 8 a.m. to noon and other school students from 1 to 5 p.m. None of the grade school students are transported outside the district.

This year's graduating class will receive their diplomas from facilities at the University of Dayton.

In the letter of appreciation to the Stoutsville students, the Xenia Chamber of Commerce tried to bring the youngsters a little closer to the disaster by letting them know how school children from the stricken land have had to adapt to the available facilities. Pictures of the area and the destroyed schools were included in the letter.

Europe Unity Crumbles

Until a few months ago the European Common Market appeared to be well on the way to its goal of a cohesive and cooperative trade and business partnership. The question of British membership which had vexed the organization for years had been settled and the few rough spots which appeared from time to time were mainly trivial.

Then came the Arab oil embargo and a succession of major problems for the alliance which have left its officials reeling. The everyone-for-himself negotiations with the oil countries were extremely embarrassing for the nine-member group whose very purpose is to act in concert on trade matters.

But that may have been the least of the Common Market's problems. On the heels of the election of a new government in Britain came demands that the terms handed Britain for membership be renegotiated under threat of a possible withdrawal from the organization.

France's decision to float its franc earlier this year without bothering to consult other members of the trading bloc was another blow to the consortium's cohesiveness. Now the Italians have struck a harder blow. As a means of offsetting its large deficit in international accounts, Italy has announced a 50 per cent surcharge on imports in a number of categories—without bothering to consult its economic allies.

The surcharge collections will be held for six months by the Bank of Italy and draw no interest. It is, as one official of the Common Market described it, a powerful disincentive to import. It also effectively shatters the trading bloc's policies of trading practices between one another.

A few more actions of this nature may make it easier for Britain to decide whether it really wants to remain in the alliance.

Sobering Thoughts

NEW YORK — Greetings, fellow drinkers. Here are some weekend suggestions for better boozing. If you are a martini man, order the wife and kids to get up early so they can crush a nice batch of ice cubes and place said ice in sterling silver champagne bucket. Then have them insert three or four crystal-clear, long-stemmed cocktail glasses bowls downward into the crushed ice, with the understanding that every hour on the hour — until you arise — they'll sprinkle absinthe on the ice. Rise at the crack of noon, gently, stir a bowl of British gin, whisper "Vermouth" into it, extricate one of the frozen and heavily-scented glasses, and pour. Do not desecrate with an olive or taint with a twist of lemon peel. If it isn't cold enough for your mangled taste buds, you may add one lump of clear ice. Or, for an option, beat the wife and kids.

As for you Scotch, bourbon and blend fellows, pour a triple on the rocks and top it off with a jigger of fresh orange juice. This is what the late Frank Conniff called, "The Breakfast of Runners-up."

And here's another suggestion: pray for guts enough to give up the stuff.

Am fresh back from a lunch of the New York City affiliate of the National Council of Alcoholism (NCA). There was a big jug of ice tea on each crowded table at the Plaza. Speakers included the enormously earnest and capable Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, a former alcoholic who has made another noble choice of late: he will not run for reelection but, instead, enter upon the religious life.

Hughes gave up the stuff 20 years ago. His Senate Hughes Act created the National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism. For the first time, alcoholism received substantial Federal support in terms of programs and funding. He was able to announce at the lunch that the Congress has provided new funding to renew his crusading belief that alcoholism is the nation's "largest untreated treatable disease."

Sen. Hughes was followed by Dr. Nicholas A. Pace, president of the New York affiliate of the NCA, chief medical adviser to General Motors, and a nationally known figure in the field of arthritis. He gave us some statistics that made the non-tea drinkers shake in their cups:

"Alcoholism causes 40 per cent of all hospital admissions. Thirty-one per cent of all suicides, 60 per cent of all homicides, and 40 per cent of all family court problems, and six and one half million employed alcoholics cause industry to lose $10 billion annually in accidents, insurance claims, property damage and productivity.

"Alcohol is responsible for 25,000 highway deaths a year. Cirrhosis of the liver is the fourth cause of death of people over 40 years of age in the United States. Right here in New York City more than 400,000 New Yorkers have this illness and there are one and one half million men, women and children adversely affected by this condition.

"Alcoholism is responsible for more than 14,000 divorces a year in New York, and $165 million worth of welfare payments. Studies show that five per cent of the total population have or are on the verge of having this problem. It crosses all economic levels, and all professions: White collar workers, blue collar workers, doctors, lawyers, housewives. All are susceptible.

"The U.S. government has now indicated that alcoholism is the most serious drug problem in America and the epidemic is spreading to our youngsters. The FBI reported in 1960 that the number of youngsters under 18 arrested for drunken driving was 13,537 — and in 1973 the number had risen to 31,173.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A spell has been cast over the stock market by three evil I's that have produced in it a state of near paralysis. Inflation, interest rates and impeachment have stared down investors. They're afraid to move. On Thursday of last week, for example, the market showed some signs of courage, advancing nearly 15 points as measured by Dow Jones' industrial index. The evil I's seemed briefly to have lost their concentration.

But the spell returned Friday. Early in the day the big national banks began raising their prime lending rate again, this time to 11.25 per cent. As quickly as the prime rose, stock prices fell.

By the close of the day the industrial index lost every point it had gained the day before, back to within a fraction of 850. And as the day wore on the evil I's seemed to be focused more sharply than before.

Impeachment talk grew in volume, most significantly among members of the President's own party, leading to conclusions in the markets that a continuation of political unrest was certain.

The market never ignores political issues, because the latter almost always impinge on economic issues. Moreover, so long as controversy embroiled the President, uncertainty would prevail. The market cannot tolerate uncertainty.

Impeachment talk is unsettling; it is an evil I.

Some fair news about inflation occurred Thursday when the government announced that wholesale prices rose in April by 8.4 per cent, less sharply than in any of the previous six months. And farm prices dropped too. But on Friday the influential Business Council, made up of the leaders of major corporations, heard their own advisers tell them that unemployment was due to rise sharply and that prices would continue their upward climb. And so the market shrank back to a lower reading, to an average price more in keeping with the realities. Investors fear to commit their money when inflation, impeachment and high interest rates are staring them in the eye.

Inflation forces up business costs, which can only be recovered by raising prices. These higher prices in turn force buyers to seek equality and they too demand an increase in the number of dollars they get to spend.

High interest rates also increase the costs of business, which cut into profits. But even more significant for the stock markets, high interest draws money away from equity investments. Impeachment, when looked upon in the historical perspective of 1980, might prove to be the least evil of the I's because, eventually, it will go away. But inflation and high interest seem to be like stationary satellites in the sky, set to stay a long, long while.

Brokers Licenses Of 2 Suspended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The broker's licenses of two Ohio men have been suspended, state Commerce Director Dennis Shaul said today.

The men are Ernest Hopkins of Westerville and Ross E. Finley of Oregon. Shaul said the two men were accused of violating real estate rules and regulations.

He said they have 15 days in which to appeal the decision.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My wife uses a great deal of hair spray. The mist doesn't seem to bother her, but if I am in the room I actually find my breathing affected.

Do other people react as I do to hair spray?

Mr. B. J. H., N.J.

Dear Mr. H.:
This problem is under study by a great many research workers who are questioning the safety of all aerosol products, not only hair spray.

It is well known that hair spray preparations are combinations of many chemicals. Even though the containers warn that the substances should not be inhaled or exposed to the eyes, it is almost impossible not to do so.

A group of research workers at Yale University has reported an extensive study in the "New England Journal of Medicine."

Complex studies of the lung function showed that hair sprays in an enclosed room can definitely alter lung capacity. Fortunately, the effect of the hair spray seems to be of short duration, and may not leave permanent changes in the lung.

Some people may be more sensitive than others to all sorts of aerosol sprays. They must make a concentrated effort to avoid entrapment in a closed room while the spray is being used.

Even those people who don't have a reaction would be wise to exercise the simple precaution of using a spray in a well-ventilated room.

I find that even with a light snack before bedtime my sleep is disturbed. My wife thinks it's all in my head.

Mr. E. S. Tenn.

Dear Mr. S.:
The greatest likelihood is that it is all in your stomach.

Some people sleep well even after a heavy meal. Others are distressed by as simple a dish as milk toast before going to bed.

One learns by simple experiences. If eating before retiring is not for you, then give it up.

Another factor must be considered. A "light snack" to you may be a "heavier" snack than you think.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH ... Isn't it time legislation be sought by community groups to insist that all bicycle riders wear protective helmets?

Path To Paradise

By JIM BISHOP

One of the most attractive communities in the world lies on the edge of Glendale, California. It is on cascading green hills, encrusted with ornate Tudor buildings, lakes, swans and fountains, and marble chapels. The permanent population is 200,000—all of them dead.

Forest Lawn Memorial Park, with its soft, mysterious music, has been described as man's ultimate tribute to his guilt, and it has been painted as the path to paradise. Two weeks ago, I drove up the slopes, the broad gray avenues, to see what the Taj Mahal of cemeteries looks like.

I've seen many of them. Damon Runyon referred to cemeteries as stone orchards. Most look like an outdoor warehouse of angels, crosses and small, gray headstones. In death, it is easy to detect the rich from the poor.

Forest Lawn, the dwelling place of more movie stars than Hollywood, was the idea of Hubert Eaton. Away back in 1917, he insisted that the landscape remain unmarred by cold stone monuments; Eaton devised small, bronze name tablets, lying flush on the lawn. This has been copied by many modern places of rest.

He thought that cemeteries were depressing: "They depict an end, not a beginning." Forest Lawn, he said, "shall be as unlike other cemeteries as sunshine is unlike darkness, as eternal life is unlike death." After taking a casual look around, I am convinced that Eaton achieved his purpose—perhaps overachieved it.

There are four Forest Lawns today, but the one at Glendale is the place where the movie stars make their final address. On the lawns, in the marble walls of sanctuaries are names which jog the memory: Nat King Cole is two sepulchres above Clara Bow and Rex Bell; Clark Gable lies next to Carole Lombard.

Unconsciously, I began to look for names. Mary Pickford has a huge snowy statue ready whenever she is ready. Warner Baxter is present. So is Wallace Beery, Gracie Allen, Richard Dix, Marie Dressler, Richard Powell—there is even a grave with no marker, no identification. The forgotten man is that swashbuckling lover, Errol Flynn. The ashes of Humphrey Bogart are in a tiny, marble safe-deposit box. Conversely, Spencer Tracy has a small garden (enclosed) to himself. The first cowboy star, Tom Mix, is in a common lawn grave, but Forest Lawn's press agent couldn't find him.

Ed Wynn, silly comic, is the only one who thanks God for a wonderful life in gold letters. I cannot and would not attempt to deny the bright beauty of the several "small cathedrals" which, with their graven spires, look down at the serenity of what all men must face.

Sad? Of course I was saddened. It hurts to know that Lawrence Tibbett's voice is forever silent; Florenz Ziegfeld is part of his final Follies; Clifford Odets will never tap a typewriter again; Wallace Reid, handsome star of the Silents, was one of the first drug addicts to transmute a bright future into eternal darkness.

Jean Hersholt, so beloved, has his own niche facing a setting sun. John Gilbert, Carole Landis, Charles Laughton and Jean Harlow were my kind of people. So were Ernie Kovacs and W. C. Fields. There was a brass urn in front of Fields' crypt. I had a shameful impulse to print "90 proof" on it.

Is it beautiful? Obscene? Bad taste? I'm not qualified to answer, but I know that if Hubert Eaton's idea was to make eternity bright and sentimental, he has achieved more than anyone around the world. The statues of children in the Babyland section will make any man choke or laugh. Take your pick.

A nude tot in bronze stands with big smile, arms outstretched, surrounded by miniature, white Christmas trees. The first verse of the poem says: "You strain your ears to catch a note That drifts in cadence soft and low From out the Heaven Land remote Where all the little children go."

That was enough. I got back into the car. The driver said, "Where to?" "Beverly Hills Hotel," I said. My wife was quiet. "I thought," she said after a moment, "that we were going to see the Hollywood movie stars."

"That's where they are," I said. "You won't find them in Hollywood. That place died years ago." ...

Plastic Shipping Bags In Demand

TYLER, Tex (AP) — Demand for heavy-duty coextruded plastic shipping and storage bags will increase by 10 per cent in 1974, according to Arthur A. Kukla, general manager of USI Film Products.

Kukla estimates consumption of about 35.8 million pounds of plastic resin for this type of packaging in 1974, compared with 32.5 million pounds in 1973. He said 148.5 million bags will be used in 1974, up from 135 million last year.

Much of the year's volume increase in heavy duty bags, Kukla said, will go to agricultural and chemical packaging.

The market never ignores political issues, because the latter almost always impinge on economic issues. Moreover, so long as controversy embroiled the President, uncertainty would prevail. The market cannot tolerate uncertainty.

Impeachment talk is unsettling; it is an evil I.

Some fair news about inflation occurred Thursday when the government announced that wholesale prices rose in April by 8.4 per cent, less sharply than in any of the previous six months. And farm prices dropped too. But on Friday the influential Business Council, made up of the leaders of major corporations, heard their own advisers tell them that unemployment was due to rise sharply and that prices would continue their upward climb.

And so the market shrank back to a lower reading, to an average price more in keeping with the realities. Investors fear to commit their money when inflation, impeachment and high interest rates are staring them in the eye.

Inflation forces up business costs, which can only be recovered by raising prices. These higher prices in turn force buyers to seek equality and they too demand an increase in the number of dollars they get to spend.

High interest rates also increase the costs of business, which cut into profits. But even more significant for the stock markets, high interest draws money away from equity investments.

Impeachment, when looked upon in the historical perspective of 1980, might prove to be the least evil of the I's because, eventually, it will go away. But inflation and high interest seem to be like stationary satellites in the sky, set to stay a long, long while.

Brokers Licenses Of 2 Suspended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The broker's licenses of two Ohio men have been suspended, state Commerce Director Dennis Shaul said today.

The men are Ernest Hopkins of Westerville and Ross E. Finley of Oregon. Shaul said the two men were accused of violating real estate rules and regulations.

He said they have 15 days in which to appeal the decision.

Hotel's Guests Know How To Drink

SOUTHAMPTON, Bermuda (AP) — When the Southampton Princess Hotel observed its first anniversary of operation recently, a check of the year's records produced some interesting statistics.

It wasn't surprising to learn that the Bermuda resort's 33,000 guests consumed 250,000 meals, including 12 tons of rib of beef, but their thirst was something else. During the same period, the guests quaffed 20,000 bottles of wine.

Bikers Indirect Cause Of Two Sunday Mishaps

The State Highway Patrol investigated two separate accidents Sunday in which bicycle riders were the indirect causes. Injured were the two auto drivers and two child passengers in the first accident and the bike rider in the second.

Janet C. McNeal, 32, Route 3, Orient was traveling eastbound on Route 762 near the railroad overhead at Orient 9:20 a.m. Sunday when she was forced to move left of center by bike riders. Mrs. McNeal, approaching a hillcrest, saw two bicycle riders also going eastbound. Moving left of center to avoid the bikes, she met a vehicle

Blindfold Was Used On Patty

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — Patricia Hearst's father says the reported discovery of a blindfold that may have been used on his daughter recently only confirms his belief that she is acting under duress.

"I've always known that she was taken against her will from the very beginning," newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst told newsmen Sunday at his mansion in this San Francisco suburb. "I always felt she's been coerced."

Miss Hearst, 20, has said in two taped messages that she decided to join the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army, which kidnapped her on Feb. 4. She is sought by the FBI as a material witness to an SLA bank robbery, which she said she joined in voluntarily.

The blindfold is one of the items which The Chicago Tribune said in its Sunday editions was found by federal investigators in a May 2 raid on a San Francisco apartment that had been used by the SLA.

The FBI has declined comment on the report, which quoted a federal source as saying that a bloodhound trained to pick up Miss Hearst's scent identified the blindfold, made of sponges. Other items reportedly found included a bag possibly used as a face covering.

Hearst said he had not been notified by the FBI of any such findings, but added, "It's not surprising they found it."

He also said, "I'm not encouraged," by the report. "I would be a damn sight more encouraged if they would get her back."

UAW May Extend President's Term

DETROIT (AP) — A proposal that could land United Auto Workers President Woodcock back in the UAW driver's seat for the 1976 auto industry labor negotiations is being discussed among the union's International Executive Board.

The proposal would provide three-year terms for UAW officers instead of the current two-year tenure.

If adopted, Woodcock — who's election to a third term next month is certain — would still be president of the 1.5 million-member union until 1977.

Under the current UAW constitution, he'll have to give up the office in 1976 because of mandatory retirement provisions which ban the election of UAW officers after they have reached 65.

Woodcock turns 65 on Feb. 11, 1976 and

Showers, Clear Skies Mingle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Occasional showers sprinkled the northern part of the continent from the Rockies to the New England states today, while clear skies were the rule elsewhere.

Rain lessened along most of the central and northern Atlantic as a cold front moved off the coast.

But Mt. Washington, N.H., was soaked by more than an inch of rain during the night, and gale-strength winds continued to sweep across the eastern Great Lakes.

Overcast skies lingered west into the Ohio Valley and Great Lakes areas. And cold air from Canada chilled the upper Mississippi Valley, prompting frost warnings in southern Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Showers that developed in Wyoming spread into the Northern Plains, while snow was reported at higher elevations of the Rockies and parts of eastern Montana.

Fair skies prevailed west of the Rockies and from the Southern Plains east to the lower Atlantic Coast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from a high of 82 degrees at Phoenix, Ariz., Needles, Calif., El Paso, Tex., and Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., to a low of 30 at the Minnesota cities of Hibbing and Duluth.

Freak Mishap Fatal To Girl

Police said holes in the floor of the car driven by the child's mother were covered with a rubber mat.

could not succeed himself in the spring union elections that year. The union's convention is held before the auto talks begin.

If the constitution were amended to provide for the longer term, Woodcock could hold office until 1977, through the triennial talks.

Some board members would prefer the three-year term for reasons of stability. Some would simply like the experienced Woodcock to guide the next round of auto talks.

Opponents cite the encroachment of an entrenched union bureaucracy, while others fear it would be self-serving, since many of the union convention delegates are also local officers who would be voting an extra year to their jobs.

The proposal, discussed at the board's March 30 meeting, has been made before. Opinion on the question is reportedly divided and Woodcock himself has taken no strong stand, sources indicate.

Some union leaders fear a battle for the union presidency—there could be several strong contenders — could leave the union divided just months before the important negotiations.

Logan Elm FFA Holds Banquet

The Logan Elm Future Farmers of America Chapter held its annual parent-son banquet, May 3 at the school.

Dinner was served followed by the introduction of parents and guests.

Doug Loudenslager, State FFA treasurer was the guest speaker. He dealt with the topic, "America and Its Promise in Agriculture."

Awards were presented to the recipients by Ronald Huffman, advisor.

Receiving awards were: Donald Minor, star sophomore; Bob Minshaw, star junior; Doug Goode, crop production; David Rittinger, star greenhand.

John Norton, star chapter farmer and FFA participation award; Tony Carroll, best record book; Mark Paxton, outstanding senior, work experience and swine production; Jerry Thompson, beef production; Donnie Maxson, sheep production; Terry Churchueus, agricultural mechanics.

Angie Stewart was elected to be the FFA Queen.

Dow West and Mrs. Amber Bigham were selected as honorary chapter farmers and presented plaques for their participation in FFA.

The 1973-74 officers installed the new officers. Serving on the 1974-75 administration are: Tony Carroll, president; Don Minor Jr., vice president; Steve Strous, treasurer; Doug Goode, secretary; Bobby Minshaw, sentinel; Greg Kneee, reporter and Terry Churchueus, student advisor.

"I favor the change," said board member Marcellus Ivory, who heads Region 1-A. "My region went on record in support of it two years ago."

Ivory said a union election, the heavy bargaining schedule for 1976, and the U.S. presidential election might be "just too much" for a new leadership. "A new regime could have problems in a critical year," he said.

Hot new source for gas.

One of the hottest new sources for natural gas is the frozen north.

America badly needs supplies of the clean gas energy available there to help solve the energy crisis.

Columbia has gone to the Arctic to get this gas:

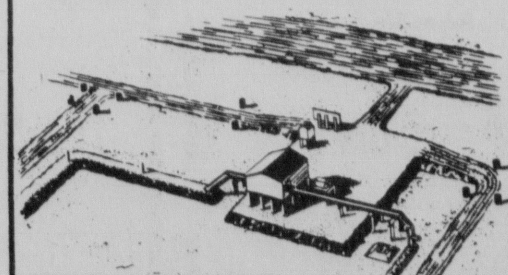

—we're financing drilling programs in Alaska and Canada, including on the far islands of the high Arctic.

—we've gotten the rights to purchase substantial gas reserves already discovered on Alaska's North Slope. Once the Alaskan oil pipeline gets started, a natural gas line can also be built from the North Slope. We can't produce the gas until oil production is underway.

—we're participating in costly environmental and engineering studies on how to build gas lines from the frozen north to consumers in Columbia's service area.

There's much work yet to do, but gas from the far north will be coming along. Columbia Gas is working hard today to meet your energy needs tomorrow.

Natural gas pipelines from the Arctic will be built with proper regard for the area they cross. A study group in which Columbia participates has operated complex test sites and conducted lengthy field studies to examine the impact of a gas line on the land and waterways and the wildlife that inhabit them. These studies are providing the data necessary to meet growing energy needs with minimum disturbance of the environment.

Mothers Is Program Theme For Esther Circle Meeting

Esther Circle of Community United Methodist Church met in the home of Mr. Tom Bennett, 551 N. Pickaway St. for the May meeting.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. William Fisher, president. Final plans for June Breakfast were discussed. Also, members were reminded that May 26 is Rev. Paul Wachs Sunday.

Mrs. Frances Pritt was recognized for receiving a life membership pin from the women's association for her outstanding service.

Mrs. Rex Wood gave an interesting program on mothers. She told of five famous women of the Bible, the most famous of these was Mary, mother of Jesus.

Eve, the first woman and mother,

Miriam, the sister of Moses, Elizabeth, mother of John the Baptist and Martha, sister of Mary and Lazarus, to whom Jesus said: "I'm the resurrection and the life."

To close the program each member related some memories of her mother. Mrs. Bennett assisted by co-hostess Mrs. Evangeline Heffelfinger, served refreshments to:

Mrs. Frank Barnhill Sr., Mrs. O. E. Barr, Mrs. William A. Cox, Mrs. Ray Cundiff, Mrs. John Downs, Mrs. Karl Drum, Mrs. William Fisher, Mrs. Herschel Hill, Mrs. Lloyd Kittle, Miss Reba Lee, Mrs. Roger Murray, Mrs. Francis Pritt, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. Orren Stout, Mrs. Dick Tootle, Mrs. M. Flower Arranging Displayed For Monrovia Garden Club

Members of Monrovia Garden Club answered roll call at the Monday evening meeting in Five Points United Methodist Church by naming their favorite flower.

Mrs. Herman Porter used for the devotion theme "As You Sow, So Shall You Reap." Each member received a ticket for a tray of petunias from Pickaway Gardens. Mrs. Harry Smith reported on the tour planned for June 18, 19 and 20, to Michigan.

Mrs. Loring Stoer, chairman of the ways and means committee, told about the plant sale to be held Saturday and members volunteered to help.

The club honored Martha Huston as an outstanding gardener. An invitation was read from Fairfield Garden Club to attend its 50th anniversary May 19 at Rising House in Lancaster.

Mrs. Joe Sheets thanked the club for the corsage presented to her at the regional meeting held recently. Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. Russell Beckett displayed spring floral arrangements. Mrs. Stoer gave a review of her wild flower story told at the last meeting.

It was announced Monrovia Garden Club will decorate the tables for the Monroe Alumni Banquet to be held June 1 at Monroe School.

Mrs. Janet Large from the Mt. Sterling Tribune was a guest and Mrs. Ella Mae Sanders of Mt. Sterling Flower Gardens was guest speaker.

Mrs. Hartley To Host Beta Rho Chapter

Guest speaker for the meeting will be Mr. Loring Hill.

and demonstrator. She was assisted by Pat Fleming in displaying arrangements and told how to assemble them for best results.

A silent auction was held with the money used for the Muscular Dystrophy Fund. The therapy program will be held May 14 at Orient State School with Mrs. Herman Porter and Mrs. Vonna Raser in charge.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Francis Furniss, Mrs. Otha Lewis, Miss Laura Long and Miss Saralie Grabill.

Clothing Workshop Held Thursday

The first class of a clothing workshop for homemakers was held Thursday afternoon, May 9, from 1-3 p.m., at Calvary United Methodist Church. The workshop, sponsored by the Extension Office, and titled "Know Your Clothes" was to help homemakers make wise choices in the selection of clothing and care of fabrics.

The lesson covered fibers, fabrics, new developments in fabrics, new fabric finishes, and fabric construction. Mrs. Norma Deyo, Specialist in Clothing and Textiles from Ohio State University, was the instructor. There were many garment and fabric samples for homemakers to actually see and feel to learn about fabrics.

DISASTER—Shown above are participants in the Mock Disaster Challenge held at Camp Ken Jockety May 4.

Disaster Training Held For Girl Scouts

On May 4, at Camp Ken Jockety in Franklin County, 179 Cadette Girl Scouts participated in an Emergency Preparedness for Youth Disaster Challenge. They represented 25 troops from Franklin, Fairfield and Pickaway Counties.

The mock disasters were set up by the Disaster Services Agency from Columbus and consisted of a freeway multiple car accident and a nuclear explosion at a test site. The girls had no prior knowledge of the type of disaster they would participate in.

Ninety people acted as victims, consisting of Explorer Scouts, Auxiliary Police, Auxiliary Fire Department, Red Cross, Junior, Senior and Adult Scouts.

The Disaster Service Agency ran the communications and rescue trucks. Medics from Lockbourne Air Force Base were in charge of the evaluation of the seriousness of the injuries.

Girls from Circleville participating in the Challenge were Cheryl Hawkins, Kathy Fisher, Karen Jones, Traci Ward, Tina Woods and Beth Armstrong. They had completed a 21 hour course led by Ginie Sherman, Learning Consultant of the EPY Program.

For their efforts at Ken Jockety, these scouts received a Challenge Pin, Challenge Patch, Basic First Aid Patch, Basic First Aid Card, Certificate for Modified Home Nursing from the Red Cross, Certificate for Medical Self Help from the Disaster Services Agency, Certificate for Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation from the Heart Association.

Also attending from Circleville, along with the scouts and leaders, was John Leist, deputy director for Civil Defense for Pickaway County.

Girl Scouts Recognition Luncheon Held

Logan Trails Service Unit of Girl Scouts held their annual Recognition Luncheon at Wardell's Party Home on Thursday.

Barbara Armstrong, Service Unit Director, presented a Certificate of Recognition to the Trinity Lutheran Church for their many years of service to the unit, especially for providing meeting places. It was accepted by Regina Helwegen, Church Secretary.

Mrs. Armstrong also presented Certificates to Lyn Fisher, Nikki Woods, Marian Fischer, Gloria Van Gundy, Rosemary Flowers, Maxine Gerlach, Sharon Middaugh, Virginia Simpson, Carolyn Fischer, Ginie Sherman, and Dee Covey. These women have all served the Service Unit for two years or more, many of them with more than one job.

Ten year pins were presented to Gloria Van Gundy, Katie Wamsley and Ann Curtiss.

A public thank-you was given to Mrs. Lyman Penn, who was unable to attend, for her contributions with regard to Camp Miska.

Carolyn Fischer, Field Director, showed slides of the Emergency Preparedness for Youth Disaster Challenge held recently at Camp Ken Jockety.

The next service unit meeting will be September 12 at the Trinity Lutheran Church Parish House.

Kitchen Band Celebrates 2 Birthdays

The Forever Young Kitchen Band held a carry-in Birthday supper May 6 at the home of Mrs. May Rhymer in honor of her 88th year and also for John M. Miranda in honor of his 56th year, birthdays May 5 and 7 respectively.

After supper, Ray Beery played "Happy Birthday" and "May Jesus Bless You" while the rest of the band sang. A short business meeting was held and then the Band practiced for the engagement at the Mother And Daughters Banquet of the Emmett Chapel Church to be held May 15.

Attending were: Viola Hartranft, Pauline Pierce, Eloise Fee, Magdalene Fee, Blanch Kern, Mildred Allison, Alton Stonerock, Lucille Scott, Grace Strietenberger, Ruth Miranda, Lida Ross, Ray Beery, John Miranda and May Rhymer. Other guests were Ellen DeLong and Kathryn Hartley.

Roundtown Secretaries To Attend State Confab

Action means knowledge will be the theme of the 24th annual meeting of the Ohio Division of The National Secretaries Association (International) hosted by the Middletown Chapter at Imperial House South, Miamisburg, Ohio, May 17-19.

The National Secretaries Association is the world's leading secretarial association with over 30,000 members throughout the United States, Canada, and Puerto Rico. The Ohio Division has 39 chapters with over 2,000 members; the Roundtown Chapter, Circleville, currently has a membership of 29. Delegate Freda W. Collins and Alternate Maxine Andregg will represent Roundtown Chapter. Other members attending are Dorothy Ann Evans, Marie Neff, Joy Slone and Tressie Chambers.

Middletown Chapter, with Hazel M. Duvall as General Chairman, will officially welcome over 300 secretaries and the Ohio Division Officers: President Carlene Hamilton, CPS, Columbus; Vice President Virginia De Marsh, CPS, Youngstown; Recording Secretary Marilyn Bloom, Fremont; Corresponding Secretary Virginia Simonds, Bowling Green; and Treasurer Mary McCarthy, Cincinnati. An Indian theme will be used throughout the three-day meeting beginning on Friday evening with Open House, exhibitions of office equipment and supplies, and entertainment.

Greeting the members Saturday morning will be State Representative William Donham and President of the Middletown Chapter, Midge Bailey.

Keynote speaker for the Saturday morning session will be Dr. William Mitchell, NSA Research and Education Director.

One of the highlights of the weekend will be the Secretary of the Year (SOTY) Contest during which three finalists will answer questions before a panel of three judges to determine the Division SOTY who will then become a candidate on the District level. Speaker at the SOTY Luncheon will be Father Richard Connelly, Chaplain of the Cincinnati Bengals and Pastor of St. Colman Church, Washington Court House, Ohio.

At the banquet on Saturday evening, the newly elected officers will be installed and Division awards will be presented to chapters for activity in the various programs of The National Secretaries Association (International). Those secretaries attaining the Certified Professional Secretary rating during the past year will be honored.

The three-day weekend will conclude Sunday with a brunch. Guest speaker will be Mr. Charles Carraher, Jr., of Cincinnati, Ohio, former Corporate Secretary of The Cincinnati Enquirer, currently with Cincinnati Suburban Newspapers, Inc.

Nelsonville Meet Set To Study Ohio Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A joint legislative committee will conduct a public hearing in Nelsonville later this month to explore Ohio's educational needs.

Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, Chairperson of the Joint Education Review Committee, said the panel "has a broad mandate from the legislature to recommend improvements" in Ohio's educational system.

Mrs. Weisenborn said, "But in order to make improvements, we have to know what effects our present policies are having at the grassroots. We need to hear from parents, students, and community leaders, as well as from teachers, administrators, and board members."

The hearing will be conducted May 30-31 at the Hocking Valley Motor Lodge in Nelsonville.

sewed, made crafts and played table games.

At noon, it was a sack lunch and beverages furnished. Birthday Cakes were enjoyed by the May Birthday people, Leona Berger and Harold Bumgardner and other members and guests present.

Everett Shriver, president, presided over the business meeting. It was announced by Vera Saunders, Information and Referral Aide that the Governor's Conference will be held at the Lausche Building, on the Ohio State Fair Grounds on May 22, all 55 and over are invited to attend. The Hearing Clinic under the direction of Orville Martin, Audiologist from the Ohio State Board of Health, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Circleville Senior Citizen's Carry In Dinner on May 23 at the Lutheran Parish House. Blanche Kerns, president of the Pickaway Senior Citizens announced the Bean and Ham Dinner to be held May 30 from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Circleville Good Shepherd United Methodist Church.

Elda Behnke had charge of the Mother's Day Program with Nellie Bumgardner and Anna Hedges reading poems and all sang "Faith of Our Mothers" in honor of Mothers.

Candidates For Judge Keep Mum

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When voters ponder their decisions in November, they will meet a different breed of candidate.

These candidates will refuse to talk about their political beliefs. They won't say if they're for or against gun control, abortion or no-fault insurance. They probably won't even say if they consider themselves liberal or conservative.

These are the candidates who want to be judges.

Judicial candidates are bound by the Code of Judicial Conduct, adopted recently by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Under the code, the candidates are banned from taking sides in legal or political disputes, from making promises other than "faithful and impartial performance" and from commenting on pending or probable court cases.

Chief Justice C. William O'Neill defends the rules, even though they might make it more difficult for voters to judge the judges.

"I remember a judge at a political rally once," O'Neill said. "He was walking around, slapping backs and telling the lawyers, 'If you vote for me, you won't even have to worry about your case.'"

O'Neill said the code helps prevent such abuses. He said it also keeps judges from backing themselves into corners by making campaign promises.

"You immediately get into an embarrassing situation," O'Neill said of such promises. "There's no time at all before some aspect of that will be before the court."

The code is not new, O'Neill said, nor is it unique to Ohio. He said it is one of the canons of judicial ethics adopted by the American Bar Association more than 1½ years ago.

He said it appears judicial candidates are abiding by the code while seeking office.

"I hope it will not be dishonored as time goes on," he said.

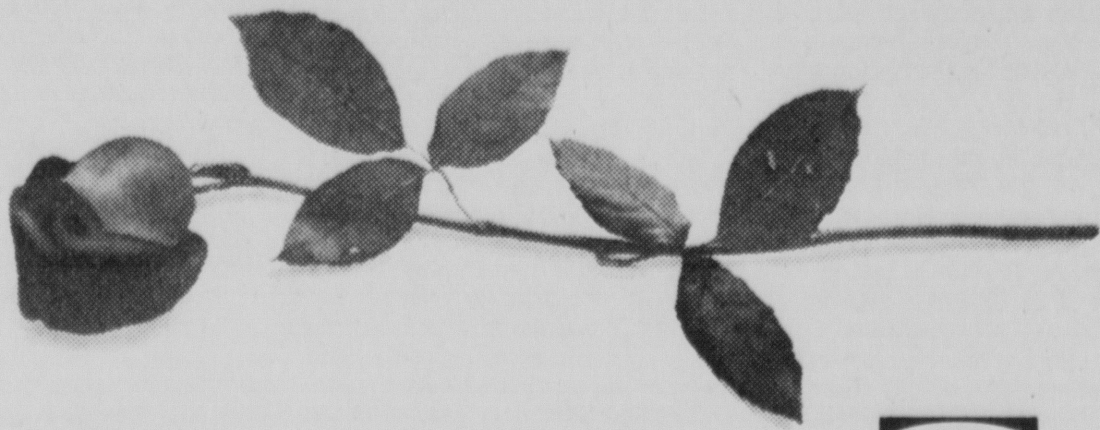

But when the candidates don't tell their views, how do the voters choose?

"When voters ask me that," O'Neill said, "I suggest they inquire of lawyers they know, of his (the candidate's) ability, of others who know him in the community.

"It's difficult to know how a man will act on the bench," O'Neill said. "It all comes down to judging his credentials, his character and his experience. And that's about what you get down to in any public job."

TV Sweeps 2 Games At Utica

Teays Valley scored an easy 9-1 win over Utica in the first game of a non-league doubleheader baseball game Saturday and erupted for five runs in the ninth inning to pull out a 12-7 decision and a sweep of the two games.

Brad Stedter was winner in the first game, allowing five hits and four walks. He fanned one batter.

The Vikings, with 12 hits, scored four runs in the first and third innings to grab the win.

Terry Lambert paced the hitting attack with a triple and two singles. Jeff Anderson ripped a double and two singles; Bruce Haines had a double; Stedter collected three singles; and Chuck Glitt, Steve Williams, and Terry Althouse bagged singles for the Vikings.

TV, which scored a single run in the top of the first inning of the second game, quickly fell behind when Utica tallied five times.

The Vikings regained the lead in the fourth with a 5-run outburst and added an insurance run in the sixth before Utica sent it into extra innings with two runs in the last of the seventh.

Keith Pettibone survived the bad start, spacing 10 hits over the 9-inning game. He walked six and fanned three.

Glitt paced the 9-hit Viking attack with three singles. Williams and Lambert had two singles each, and Terry Southers and Norm McPherson clubbed singles for the Vikings.

TV, with a 15-5 overall mark, returns to Metro League play today when they host Marysville. The Vikings are 6-2 in the league, a game behind Grandview.

Circleville Car Wins At Atomic Speedway

George Branscom of Chillicothe, Ohio driving the 23 Auto Parts Chevrolet Chevelle out of Circleville, grabbed his third straight Late Model feature at Atomic Speedway Saturday night.

The second place finisher John Mugavin of Cincinnati gave Branscom a battle for over half of the race, but Mugavin dropped back on the last few laps to hold on to second, followed by Skip Waterman of Columbus, Bob Crace of Chillicothe, Joe Teeters of Jackson, Greg Hatfield of Chillicothe, Calvin Kenneda of Mount Carmel, Don Bender of Columbus, Jerry McDonald of Chillicothe, Jerry Rucker of Waverly, Roger Parks of Chillicothe, Moe Beeler of Chillicothe, Roger French of Chillicothe, Steve Walker of Tarlton, Bobby Oney of Jackson, Jim West of Reynoldsburg, Larry Clark of Chillicothe, Dick French of Chillicothe, Bobby Boyles of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Ron Baker of Milford.

First heat race winner was Jerry McDonald followed by Jerry Rucker, Bobby Oney, Roger Park, and Greg Hatfield.

Second heat race winner was John Mugavin followed by Jim West, George Branscom, Roger French, and Ron Baker.

The Super Sprint feature was won by Bob Pickens of Dayton, Ohio, and only his second appearance at Atomic. He started the feature the sixth car back and moved up quickly to gain that first position and go on to win it without too much difficulty. Pickens was followed by Rod Albright, an ex-Washington Redskins football player, from Hanover, Pennsylvania. Trailing Albright was John Beaber of Gibsonburg, Larry McPeck of Parkersburg, W. Va., Sam Adkins of Portsmouth, Don Adams of Logan, Bob Greer of Lima, Joe Frazier of Chillicothe, Keith Boston of Geneva, W. Va., Charles McCann of Piketon, Steve Wise of Vienna, W. Va., Wayne Slark of Columbus, Randy Curless of Bradner, Bob Carrico of Chesapeake, Bill Clausen of Bowling Green, C. J. Holley of Logan and Junior Smalley of Waverly.

First heat race winner was Wayne Slark followed by Don Adams, Randy Curless, Keith Boston, and Charlie McCann.

Second heat race winner was Rod Albright followed by Bob Pickens, Bill Clausen, John Beaber, and Sam Adkins.

The Hobby Stock feature was probably the most exciting for the race fans as it had to be red-flagged several times. The eventual winner was again Fred Payne in that familiar No. 8 out of Circleville. He was followed by Charlie Seymour of Chillicothe, Jim Cottrill of Chillicothe, Dick Grimm of Royalton, Jim Smith of Circleville, Larry Jett of Chillicothe, Marvin Thimes of Chillicothe, Henry Nickell of Laurelville, Jim Taylor of Circleville, Roger Mossbarger of Chillicothe, Don Clark of Jackson, Larry Brisker of Oak Hill, Don Parsons of Columbus, Herb Riffitt of Wellston. On the 10th lap Don Parsons of Columbus lost a wheel going down the backstretch. Larry Brisker went over the top of Parsons car and ended up on his side and out of the race. Brisker was ok and his car was moderately damaged.

Larry Brisker won the first Hobby Stock heat race, followed by Don Clark, Dick Grimm, Ernie Budd, Larry Jett.

The second heat race win went to Fred Payne followed by Don Parsons, Bill Detillion, Jim Cottrill, Marvin Thimmes, and Jim Taylor.

Giovanni's Rip PPG

Giovanni's Pizza ripped PPG 10-5 behind the power hitting of Gary Francis and Rick Withers in the slow-pitch league.

Francis and Withers both homered for the winners, Francis getting four hits in four trips to the plate, and Withers banging out three.

Jack Allen went three for four for Giovanni's and Dave Ogan cracked a double.

CJHS Trackmen Take 4th In Gene Cole Open

Frank Merrill paced the combined Circleville Junior High School track team to a fourth place finish in the Gene Cole open Saturday at Lancaster.

The combined 7th, 8th, and 9th grade team garnered 10th place in the relay division.

Merrill captured second place in the 440 dash with a school record time of 54 seconds and earned third in the long jump with a leap of 18-feet, 4 inches.

The Circleville team scored 31½ points in the open division. Lancaster won it with 54½ points, followed by Mansfield with 39½ and Mifflin with 38.

Circleville was one of two Class AA teams in the 19-team field. The remainder were Class AAA schools.

Dave Marshall jumped 5-feet, 6-inches for fifth place in the high jump. It was a new school record.

Other open winners were Dave

Phillips who placed third in the 120-yard low hurdles in 15.5; Bill Mogan who placed fourth in the discus with a toss of 110-feet, 1-inch; and Rusty Holbrook who placed third in the 880 run in 2:10.4.

Lancaster won the relay division with 51 points followed by Mifflin with 49. Circleville scored 11 points.

The long jump team of Merrill, Pearl Logan, and Tom Taylor placed second; the mile relay team of Mike Edgington, Marshall, Bill Mogan, and Greg Berrigan placed fifth in 3:52.5; and the pole vault team of Jeff Moorehead, Jerry Large, and Dan DeFrank placed sixth.

The 9th grade trackmen have a home meet with Grove City Tuesday. The 7th and 8th grade team will compete in the County meet Wednesday at 5:30 p.m.

Panthers Take Two From CHS Reserves

The Circleville JV baseball team evened its record at 5-5 after dropping a doubleheader at Miami Trace Saturday.

The young Panthers rolled to a 6-1 win in the first game and scored four runs in the fifth inning of the last game to slip past the reserves 5-4.

In the first game, Miami Trace scored single runs in the second and fourth innings and two runs in the third and sixth frames. The Tiger's lone run came in the fifth inning. Biff Bumgarner went the distance for the reserves, allowing five hits, all singles. Bumgarner fanned eight Panthers and didn't allow a walk.

Poor fielding was his downfall as his mates were charged with eight errors. James was the winning pitcher as he fanned 12 Tigers and allowed six singles.

Bumgarner collected two hits for the Tigers. Singles were hit by Jerry Strawser, Paul Combs, and Keith Sanders.

After spotting the Panthers a single run in the first inning of the second game, the Tigers took the lead with a two-run third inning and scored two more times in the top of the fifth.

But the Panthers came up with four runs in their half of the inning to take the game.

Doug McGlone took the loss for the Tigers, fanning 3, walking three, and allowing seven hits.

Again the Tigers out-hit Miami Trace, collecting nine hits off Walker. But the Panther pitcher fanned 10 Tigers.

McGlone, Jerry Strawser, and Paul Combs slashed doubles for the Tigers and Bumgarner had two singles.

Ohio Wesleyan Takes Tennis Championship

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Conference Tennis championship has been claimed by Ohio Wesleyan for the third time in four years.

In tournament play over the weekend, Ohio Wesleyan posted a team score of 27, followed by Kenyon, 23½, and Denison, 20.

They were followed by Wittenburg, Marietta, Oberlin, Muskingum, Ohio Northern, Wooster, Heidelberg, Capital, Baldwin-Wallace, Mount Union and Otterbein.

Celtics Win NBA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Boston Celtics' Coach Tom Heinsohn had the last move, and it spelled checkmate for the Milwaukee Bucks.

In a championship series highlighted by the cerebral gymnastics, adjustments and countermoves of a chess match, Heinsohn's 11th hour tactical change paid off Sunday in the Celtics' 12th National Basketball Association title.

Old pro John Havlicek drew the Bucks' defense away from the middle, allowing Dave Cowens to shoot over and slash through it for 28 points as the Celtics buried the Bucks in the seventh and deciding game 102-87.

Cowens, while spotting Milwaukee's 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar five inches in height, also pulled down a game-high 14 rebounds. Boston's 47-42 board control fueled a fast break attack which, along with ceaseless pressure defense, finally wore down the Bucks in the fourth quarter.

"This was the greatest series ever," exulted Heinsohn, a star forward for the Celtics during their dynasty of the 1960s.

Havlicek, voted the series' Most Valuable Player, sank only six of 20 shots Sunday after having averaged 28 points in the first six games.

Bexley Nips CHS Trackmen For Sectional Track Win

Circleville High School track team qualified 14 individuals and two relay teams in the Class AA District track meet set at Walnut Ridge High School after finishing second in the sectional at CHS last weekend.

Logan Elm qualified two individuals and relay team and Teays Valley will be represented by two trackmen.

The Tigers finished second behind Bexley with 88 points. The suburban Columbus powerhouse had 101 points.

Mohawk finished third with 71 points; Bishop Hartley had 54 points; Hamilton Twp., 40; Heath, 30; Watkins Memorial, 23; Teays Valley, 14; Fairfield Union, 13.5; Logan Elm, 9; Johnstown Monroe, 8; Lakewood, 4; London, 2; and Reemelin, 0.

In the field events, Tiger qualifiers were Tom England and Scott Bowman in the discus; Frank Plescia in the long jump and high jump; and Reggie Radcliff and Jim Cordle in the pole vault.

Bill Toole of Teays Valley won the shot put and Logan Elm's Brad Luckhart tied for fifth place in the pole vault to earn a spot in the district meet.

In the running events, Matt McGowan finished second in the mile in 4:38 and John Stevens grabbed sixth place in 4:53.5 for the Tigers.

Robin Martin won the 440 in 52.2 and John Ankrum came in second in 53.3. Rick Sampson came in fourth in the 220 in 23.9; Doug Radabaugh finished fourth in the 880 in 2:06; Steve Watters finished third in the 2-mile run in 10:48.5; and Bill Massie grabbed sixth in the 2-mile in 10:57. Circleville's mile relay team of Martin, McGowan, Sampson, and Ankrum finished a tenth of a second behind Bexley in 3:37.4 for second place and the 880 relay team of Plescia, Strawser, Camp, and Sampson finished fourth in the 880 relay in 1:34.8.

Logan Elm's Dave Hulse finished third in the 180 lows and the Braves' mile relay team finished sixth.

Mike Figgins of Teays Valley placed fourth in the 2-mile run.

In another sectional meet, Westfall qualified three trackmen for the District meet.

Jim Mosley placed fifth in the 120 highs in 16.3; Rick Metzger placed third in the mile in 4:51 and sixth in the 880 in 2:13; and Randy Hildenbrand placed fourth in the discus with a throw of 121-feet, 9 inches.

TV Sweeps 2 Games At Utica

Teays Valley scored an easy 9-1 win over Utica in the first game of a non-league doubleheader baseball game Saturday and erupted for five runs in the ninth inning to pull out a 12-7 decision and a sweep of the two games.

Brad Stedter was winner in the first game, allowing five hits and four walks. He fanned one batter.

The Vikings, with 12 hits, scored four runs in the first and third innings to grab the win.

Terry Lambert paced the hitting attack with a triple and two singles. Jeff Anderson ripped a double and two singles; Bruce Haines had a double; Stedter collected three singles; and Chuck Glitt, Steve Williams, and Terry Althouse bagged singles for the Vikings.

TV, which scored a single run in the top of the first inning of the second game, quickly fell behind when Utica tallied five times.

The Vikings regained the lead in the fourth with a 5-run outburst and added an insurance run in the sixth before Utica sent it into extra innings with two runs in the last of the seventh.

Keith Pettibone survived the bad start, spacing 10 hits over the 9-inning game. He walked six and fanned three.

Glitt paced the 9-hit Viking attack with three singles. Williams and Lambert had two singles each, and Terry Southers and Norm McPherson clubbed singles for the Vikings.

TV, with a 15-5 overall mark, returns to Metro League play today when they host Marysville. The Vikings are 6-2 in the league, a game behind Grandview.

CJHS Trackmen Take 4th In Gene Cole Open

Frank Merrill paced the combined Circleville Junior High School track team to a fourth place finish in the Gene Cole open Saturday at Lancaster.

The combined 7th, 8th, and 9th grade team garnered 10th place in the relay division.

Merrill captured second place in the 440 dash with a school record time of 54 seconds and earned third in the long jump with a leap of 18-feet, 4 inches.

The Circleville team scored 31 1/2 points in the open division. Lancaster won it with 54 1/2 points, followed by Mansfield with 39 1/2 and Mifflin with 38.

Circleville was one of two Class AA teams in the 19-team field. The remainder were Class AAA schools.

Dave Marshall jumped 5-feet, 6-inches for fifth place in the high jump. It was a new school record.

Other open winners were Dave

Circleville Car Wins At Atomic Speedway

George Branscom of Chillicothe, Ohio driving the 23 Auto Parts Chevrolet Chevelle out of Circleville, grabbed his third straight Late Model feature at Atomic Speedway Saturday night.

The second place finisher John Mugavin of Cincinnati gave Branscom a battle for over half of the race, but Mugavin dropped back on the last few laps to hold on to second, followed by Skip Waterman of Columbus, Bob Crace of Chillicothe, Joe Teeters of Jackson, Greg Hatfield of Chillicothe, Calvin Kennedy of Mount Carmel, Don Bender of Columbus, Jerry McDonald of Chillicothe, Jerry Rucker of Waverly, Roger Parks of Chillicothe, Moe Beeler of Chillicothe, Roger French of Chillicothe, Steve Walker of Turlington, Bobby Oney of Jackson, Jim West of Reynoldsburg, Larry Clark of Chillicothe, Dick French of Chillicothe, Bobby Boyles of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Ron Baker of Milford.

First heat race winner was Jerry McDonald followed by Jerry Rucker, Bobby Oney, Roger Park, and Greg Hatfield.

Second heat race winner was John Mugavin followed by Jim West, George Branscom, Roger French, and Ron Baker.

The Super Sprint feature was won by Bob Pickens of Dayton, Ohio, and only his second appearance at Atomic. He started the feature the sixth car back and moved up quickly to gain that first position and go on to win it without too much difficulty. Pickens was followed by Rod Albright, an ex-Washington Redskins football player, from Hanover, Pennsylvania. Trailing Albright was John Beaber of Gibsonburg, Larry McPeck of Parkersburg, W. Va., Sam Adkins of Portsmouth, Don Adams of Logan, Bob Greer of Lima, Joe Frazier of Chillicothe, Keith Boston of Geneva, W. Va., Charles McCann of Piketon, Steve Wise of Vienna, W. Va., Wayne Slark of Columbus, Randy Curless of Bradner, Bob Carrico of Chesapeake, Bill Clausen of Bowling Green, C. J. Holley of Logan and Junior Smalley of Waverly.

First heat race winner was Wayne Slark followed by Don Adams, Randy Curless, Keith Boston, and Charlie McCann.

Second heat race winner was Rod Albright followed by Bob Pickens, Bill Clausen, John Beaber, and Sam Adkins.

The Hobby Stock feature was probably the most exciting for the race fans as it had to be red-flagged several times. The eventual winner was again Fred Payne in that familiar No. 8 out of Circleville. He was followed by Charlie Seymour of Chillicothe, Jim Cottrill of Chillicothe, Dick Grimm of Royalton, Jim Smith of Circleville, Larry Jett of Chillicothe, Marvin Thimes of Chillicothe, Henry Nickell of Laurelville, Jim Taylor of Circleville, Roger Mossbarger of Chillicothe, Don Clark of Jackson, Larry Brisker of Oak Hill, Don Parsons of Columbus, Herb Riffitt of Wellston. On the 10th lap Don Parsons of Columbus lost a wheel going down the backstretch. Larry Brisker went over the top of Parsons car and ended up on his side and out of the race. Brisker was ok and his car was moderately damaged.

Larry Brisker won the first Hobby Stock heat race, followed by Don Clark, Dick Grimm, Ernie Budd, Larry Jett.

The second heat race win went to Fred Payne followed by Don Parsons, Bill Detillion, Jim Cottrill, Marvin Thimmes, and Jim Taylor.

Giovanni's Rip PPG

Giovanni's Pizza ripped PPG 10-5 behind the power hitting of Gary Francis and Rick Withers in the slow-pitch league.

Francis and Withers both homered for the winners, Francis getting four hits in four trips to the plate, and Withers banging out three.

Jack Allen went three for four for Giovanni's and Dave Ogan cracked a double.

In Memoriam

In Memoriam
In loving memory of my grand-daughter, Diane Leist, who passed away May 13, 1972.
No more can I take away
The love a heart holds dear.
Fond memories linger every day
Remember keeps her dear.
Sadly missed by
Grandmother and Brothers

In loving memory of our daughter and sister, Diane Leist who died May 13, 1972.
Sometimes it's hard to understand
The things that have to be.
But God in His wisdom has a plan
Beyond our power to see.
When the heartaches of this world
Were more than she could bear.
He took her home to heaven
For there is no pain up there.
Sadly missed by Family

In memory of Ralph Weethree on this his birthday May 13.
We miss you so,
No one will ever know,
Your empty chair
Beside the radio
Reminds us of your smiling face,
Your gentle hand,
But God said "Come with me, Bud,
to my beautiful land."
Sadly missed by Wife, Faye
Son, Bruce and Families

Golf Association. "I don't have any fuss with 99 per cent of the members of the HGA," Hill said. "I've just got a fuss with one man."

The stormy, controversial Hill made the comments after a dramatic comeback victory in the final round Sunday, shooting a seven-under-par 65 for a 276 total and a one-stroke triumph over Steve Melnyk, Rod Curl and Andy North in the Houston Open. Then he took off at the press. "I don't like to talk to the press," Hill said. "Everytime I do, it comes out wrong. Everytime I do, they cut me. O' Davey don't have much blood left. They

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some misleading influences. Take no promises for granted. Get everything in writing and, above all, be cautious in dealing with strangers.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your impressions about certain acquaintances will be valid, but don't spread the word. Some information is best kept secret.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may hear some idle talk. Be analytical and sift through all the wordage until you ring the bell of fact. Then, and only then, take any needed action.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Being in the right place at the right time could be the key to a new opportunity or an adventuresome experience on this highly stimulating day. Keep all senses alert.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A day in which a personal ambition can be happily fulfilled. You finally get the backing you have wanted — and needed.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Delays and obstacles may be the order of the day but such challenges can boomerang in your favor if you stress your determination — and foresight.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Excellent influences encourage creative pursuits, romance and outdoor interests. Day spells action, optimism. Plan wisely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Shore up sagging productivity, revise the format of programs which seem to get nowhere. A change of pace, direction, momentum may be the answer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A day for playing the waiting game. Don't let anyone pin you down to a commitment until all factors are clear in your mind. Some rosy reports could be premature.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Some interesting possibilities indicated: Day may finally see the completion of an important project; also a real improvement in your financial status.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Accent is now on career achievement, possibly some unusual token of recognition. Those engaged in creative pursuits especially favored. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A monetary matter can now be settled satisfactorily, but don't let optimism lead you into extravagance. Rather, consolidate gains, with a view to the future.

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Bill Cosby doesn't do everything for laughs. He's also seriously interested in teaching and currently working for a doctorate in education from the University of Massachusetts. As part of that effort, he's put together a film documentary that tries to show how education can deter crime by giving ghetto youths a far more hopeful future than the deadly, daily scuffle of street life.

Alas, the documentary only is showing tonight on public TV's KCET in Los Angeles. But Del Shields, the show's producer, hopes it'll eventually be offered to the Public Broadcasting Service.

"That would ideally be the first step," he said. "And then the second step would be to offer it to libraries or the offices of mayors in cities with programs that really try to help youths."

"It's the kind of film that young dudes need to see so they'll understand there's really no glory in going to jail. We'd like to give it maximum exposure and try to save some young lives."

The documentary, "A Day at Graterford," centers on the lives of three convicted killers now doing time at a Pennsylvania prison near Philadelphia, the hometown of both Cosby and Shields. Since going to prison, two of the inmates have earned college degrees; the third is a postulant in the Episcopal Church. Shields says they all discuss the value of education — and what the lack of it means — with Cosby, who also narrates the film. The 50-minute film, made with the help of three students from Temple University, Cosby's alma mater, was shot in three days back in March 1973 and took eight weeks to put in final form, Shields said. He said the comedian put up nearly $25,000 of his own money to finance the project, intended as part of Cosby's doctoral work as well as for TV and non-TV showings. Shields, who spoke in a telephone interview from Inglewood, Calif., where he manages a radio station in which Cosby is a stockholder, said he and Cosby had tentatively proposed the show to the TV networks.

However, he said, "we didn't actively pursue it" because they were told that 50 minutes was awkward, that it might have to be edited down to a half-hour program.

"There were no hard feelings about it, but Bill refused to allow it to be edited," Shields said. The program finally was given KCET because of Cosby's close association with the station, he added.

Central Europeans may be today's greatest hand-shakers. Many office and factory workers customarily shake the hands of all fellow employees daily both on arriving for the job and departing for home.

The Dutch scholar Erasmus, who died in 1536, said a really well-mannered caller kissed his host, hostess, all the children and the dog and cat.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FORT TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some misleading influences. Take no promises for granted. Get everything in writing and, above all, be cautious in dealing with strangers.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your impressions about certain acquaintances will be valid, but don't spread the word. Some information is best kept secret.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may hear some idle talk. Be analytical and sift through all the wordage until you ring the bell of fact. Then, and only then, take any needed action.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Being in the right place at the right time could be the key to a new opportunity or an adventuresome experience on this highly stimulating day. Keep all senses alert.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A day in which a personal ambition can be happily fulfilled. You finally get the backing you have wanted — and needed.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Delays and obstacles may be the order of the day but such challenges can be boomerangs in your favor if you stress your determination — and foresight.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Excellent influences encourage creative pursuits, romance and outdoor interests. Day spells action, optimism. Plan wisely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Shore up sagging productivity, revise the format of programs which seem to get nowhere. A change of pace, direction, momentum may be the answer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A day for playing the waiting game. Don't let anyone pin you down to a commitment until all factors are clear in your mind. Some rosy reports could be premature.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Some interesting possibilities indicated: Day may finally see the completion of an important project; also a real improvement in your financial status.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Accent is now on career achievement, possibly some unusual token of recognition. Those engaged in creative pursuits especially favored.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A monetary matter can now be settled satisfactorily, but don't let optimism lead you into extravagance. Rather, consolidate gains, with a view to the future.

Antiques On Display At Yates Motors

HOLD TIGHT, MICHAEL!—The young son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Swope, Michael, is holding a football autographed by the Ohio State team, which is one of the auction items for the Tecumseh Ceremonial Feast. Also pictured is a walnut spool poster child's bed, an antique hand woven coverlet, wagon wheel, hamadan oriental rug and an old sewing machine.

The show room at Yates Motor Company, 1220 S. Court St., is being used May 11 through 16 to display the articles donated from Pickaway County for the auction to be held in conjunction with the Tecumseh Ceremonial Feast, May 17 at the Elks Hall, Chillicothe.

The event, sponsored by the trustees of the Scioto Society is to help finance the second season of the outdoor drama Tecumseh on Sugarloaf Mountain.

The local acquisitions committee chairman, Mrs. Henry Swope, wishes to thank everyone who has contributed to the interesting array of collector's items.

In addition to the previously mentioned donations, Mrs. Swope has received a 1/4-pound silver Balboa from the Haacker family of 166 E. High Street. Mr. Haacker stated that the coin is the world's largest and is the official coinage of Panama. It contains

Mushroom Collectors Congregate

BOYNE City, Mich. (AP) — Pickers at the National Mushroom Festival found plenty of morel pickings in the northern Michigan woods over the weekend, but they fell far short of setting any picking records.

Wayne Schmidt, a 15-year-old high school freshman from Petersburg in Monroe County, won picking honors for a nonresident of Boyne City Sunday by collecting 226 morels in 1 1/2 hours.

His total was far below the record of 915 set in 1972, although festival officials said the tasty morels were more plentiful this spring than in previous years.

Two Ohioans, George Clifton of Circleville and Alex Uhrig of Chillicothe, finished second and third among the nonresidents.

The overall champion was Dale Karlskin of Boyne City with 577 morels.

Competitors in the field of 153 came from as far away as California but contest officials said entries were about half last year's.

Schmidt said his victory was especially satisfying since someone stole the 191 morels he collected Saturday while topping all 10 qualifiers for the finals.

Grange News

SALT CREEK VALLEY GRANGE
Over 40 members of the Saltcreek Valley Grange were hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Judy and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spung during the social hour which followed the business meeting held last Tuesday evening.

The first meeting of the month included the presentation of the first and second degrees on a class of candidates as directed by Orley Judy and the degree teams. At the May 21 meeting, the next two degrees will be presented by teams directed by Don DeLong.

Frances Fraunfelter conducted the business session which included reports of all officers and committee chairmen. Mention was given to the winning entries of Gladys Hedges, Barbara McKenzie, and Leora Sayre in the county grange baking and sewing contests held recently at the Pomona Grange meeting.

The second birthday celebration will be held on May 21 with guests being the members born in February, March, April and May. All other members are to bring salads and sandwiches for the refreshment hour.

NEBRASKA GRANGE
Nebraska Grange met in regular May session conducted by Worthy Master Ray Noecker.

During the business session an appeal for aid was granted to a member of Limerick Grange, Jackson County and a contribution was made to the Cancer Crusade.

An invitation was extended from Scioto Valley Grange to be guests for Rural Life Sunday on May 19 with a carry-in dinner at 6:30 p.m.

A letter from the American Red Cross was read extending thanks for cooperation during 1973.

Worthy master expressed his thanks to all Grangers who helped with the Walnut-Madison Alumni dinner.

Nebraska Grange will be guests of Washington Grange on May 14 and will present the program under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Riegel, lecturer.

Rural Life Sunday services will be held at the State Grange Camp, Friendly Hills on June 9. All Grangers over the state and friends are invited.

Mrs. Kenneth Riegel opened her program with comments from Master Ross's article from the May issue of the State Grange Monthly.

Mrs. Ray Noecker presented an article "Mothers Are Human Beings." A weather quiz was conducted by Chester Noecker.

Refreshments were served in the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Waites and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bell.

The June meeting will be held June 4. A good attendance is urged. Serving on the June committee will be Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hines and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ricobs.

Ceremonies Set At Lockbourne

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 100,000 persons are expected to attend ceremonies Saturday when Lockbourne Air Force Base in Columbus is officially renamed in honor of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

The seven-hour program will be highlighted by a 45-minute dedication ceremony. It also will include displays, demonstrations, band concerts, drills, flyovers and parachute jumps.

The Air Force base is being renamed in honor of the World War I ace who shot down 26 planes and held the Medal of Honor. Rickenbacker was a Columbus native. He died last year at the age of 82.

Auditions Open For State Pageant

Young ladies between the ages of 5 and 17 and residing in Fayette; Highland; Pickaway; Ross and Vinton counties will be interviewed and auditioned for the 1974 State Pageant 6 p.m. May 20 at the YMCA at 100 Mill St., Chillicothe.

A Field Director from the Pageant Headquarters will select six girls to represent their community in the state finals.

Girls will be required to perform a talent display of approximately one to three minutes and will be instructed how to model on the runway.

The competition is divided into three age groups: girls 5 to 8 years of age will compete for the titles of "Miss Petite" and "Miss Petite Talent"; girls 9 to 12 years-old for the titles of "Little Miss" and "Little Miss Talent"; and 13 to 17 year-olds for the titles of "Miss Teen" and "Miss Teen Talent."

At the state level six girls will be selected to represent the state at the International Pageant and will receive all expenses for the contestant and chaperone while attending the international finals.

Mrs. Robert L. Cullums, 1177 Lone Pine Road, is a patient in room 523, University Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Paul E. Barr (Zelma,) Route 4, is a patient in room 616, Riverside Hospital, Columbus.

Cash scholarships amounting to $3,000 will be awarded to the winners to be used for furthering their artistic development.

Ken Malone, Executive Director of the Pageant, explains, "I have created the International Talent Pageant to give young ladies a pageant system which would develop incentive to practice and develop their creative and performing arts and also to put the proper emphasis on talent, beauty, poise and personality."

Malone is a former featured dancer on Broadway, television and in night clubs and is currently a dance instructor at Ithaca College in New York State.

"Over 100 communities will be sending delegates to this annual state-wide event. Our girls will not only be gaining incentive, but will be practicing good sportsmanship, experiencing friendships and the talents of their peers as well as, joining girls of all races, colors and creeds on a common ground. This is truly a youth development program."

The age of the contestant on December 31, 1974 will determine which age division she will compete in. A phonograph will be provided at the auditions. All other sources of music must be brought to the audition.

Girls who play large instruments such as pianos or organs and those desiring further information, should contact the International Pageant Headquarters, 169 Lake Street, Elmira, N.Y., 14901.

Health Delivery System Blasted

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The nation's health delivery system has become "a national shame" due to politics, the governor of the U.S. Virgin Islands charged Sunday.

Dr. Melvin H. Evans told 2,500 delegates at the opening session of the American Lung Association's annual meeting that victories will have to be won in the political arena.

He noted the United States is a world leader in science and technology, yet ranks only 16th in life expectancy. He said the life expectancy of U.S. blacks is seven years less than whites.

Dr. Evans said treatment and prevention of diseases could be improved through greater involvement and concern on the part of health agencies and individuals.

Antiques On Display At Yates Motors

HOLD TIGHT, MICHAEL!—The young son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Swope, Michael, is holding a football autographed by the Ohio State team, which is one of the auction items for the Tecumseh Ceremonial Feast. Also pictured is a walnut spool poster child's bed, an antique hand woven coverlet, wagon wheel, hamadan oriental rug and an old sewing machine.

The show room at Yates Motor Company, 1220 S. Court St., is being used May 11 through 16 to display the articles donated from Pickaway County for the auction to be held in conjunction with the Tecumseh Ceremonial Feast, May 17 at the Elks Hall, Chillicothe.

The event, sponsored by the trustees of the Scioto Society is to help finance the second season of the outdoor drama Tecumseh on Sugarloaf Mountain.

The local acquisitions committee chairman, Mrs. Henry Swope, wishes to thank everyone who has contributed to the interesting array of collector's items.

In addition to the previously mentioned donations, Mrs. Swope has received a 1/4-pound silver Balboa from the Haacker family of 166 E. High Street. Mr. Haacker stated that the coin is the world's largest and is the official coinage of Panama. It contains

Mushroom Collectors Congregate

BOYNE City, Mich. (AP) — Pickers at the National Mushroom Festival found plenty of morel pickings in the northern Michigan woods over the weekend, but they fell far short of setting any picking records.

Wayne Schmidt, a 15-year-old high school freshman from Petersburg in Monroe County, won picking honors for a nonresident of Boyne City Sunday by collecting 226 morels in 1 1/2 hours.

His total was far below the record of 915 set in 1972, although festival officials said the tasty morels were more plentiful this spring than in previous years.

Two Ohioans, George Clifton of Circleville and Alex Uhrig of Chillicothe, finished second and third among the nonresidents.

The overall champion was Dale Karlskin of Boyne City with 577 morels.

Competitors in the field of 153 came from as far away as California but contest officials said entries were about half last year's.

Schmidt said his victory was especially satisfying since someone stole the 191 morels he collected Saturday while topping all 10 qualifiers for the finals.

Grange News

SALT CREEK VALLEY GRANGE
Over 40 members of the Saltcreek Valley Grange were hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Judy and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spung during the social hour which followed the business meeting held last Tuesday evening.

The first meeting of the month included the presentation of the first and second degrees on a class of candidates as directed by Orley Judy and the degree teams. At the May 21 meeting, the next two degrees will be presented by teams directed by Don DeLong.

Frances Fraunfelter conducted the business session which included reports of all officers and committee chairmen. Mention was given to the winning entries of Gladys Hedges, Barbara McKenzie, and Leora Sayre in the county grange baking and sewing contests held recently at the Pomana Grange meeting.

The second birthday celebration will be held on May 21 with guests being the members born in February, March, April and May. All other members are to bring salads and sandwiches for the refreshment hour.

NEBRASKA GRANGE
Nebraska Grange met in regular May session conducted by Worthy Master Ray Noecker.

During the business session an appeal for aid was granted to a member of Limerick Grange, Jackson County and a contribution was made to the Cancer Crusade.

An invitation was extended from Scioto Valley Grange to be guests for Rural Life Sunday on May 19 with a carry-in dinner at 6:30 p.m.

A letter from the American Red Cross was read extending thanks for cooperation during 1973.

Worthy master expressed his thanks to all Grangers who helped with the Walnut-Madison Alumni dinner.

Nebraska Grange will be guests of Washington Grange on May 14 and will present the program under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Riegel, lecturer.

Rural Life Sunday services will be held at the State Grange Camp, Friendly Hills on June 9. All Grangers over the state and friends are invited.

Mrs. Kenneth Riegel opened her program with comments from Master Ross's article from the May issue of the State Grange Monthly.

Mrs. Ray Noecker presented an article "Mothers Are Human Beings."

A weather quiz was conducted by Chester Noecker.

Refreshments were served in the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Waites and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bell.

The June meeting will be held June 4. A good attendance is urged. Serving on the June committee will be Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hines and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ricobs.

Ceremonies Set At Lockbourne

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 100,000 persons are expected to attend ceremonies Saturday when Lockbourne Air Force Base in Columbus is officially renamed in honor of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

The seven-hour program will be highlighted by a 45-minute dedication ceremony. It also will include displays, demonstrations, band concerts, drills, flyovers and parachute jumps.

The Air Force base is being renamed in honor of the World War I ace who shot down 26 planes and held the Medal of Honor. Rickenbacker was a Columbus native. He died last year at the age of 82.

Auditions Open For State Pageant

Young ladies between the ages of 5 and 17 and residing in Fayette; Highland; Pickaway; Ross and Vinton counties will be interviewed and auditioned for the 1974 State Pageant 6 p.m. May 20 at the YMCA at 100 Mill St., Chillicothe.

A Field Director from the Pageant Headquarters will select six girls to represent their community in the state finals.

Girls will be required to perform a talent display of approximately one to three minutes and will be instructed how to model on the runway.

The competition is divided into three age groups: girls 5 to 8 years of age will compete for the titles of "Miss Petite" and "Miss Petite Talent"; girls 9 to 12 years-old for the titles of "Little Miss" and "Little Miss Talent"; and 13 to 17 year-olds for the titles of "Miss Teen" and "Miss Teen Talent."

At the state level six girls will be selected to represent the state at the International Pageant and will receive all expenses for the contestant and chaperone while attending the international finals.

Cash scholarships amounting to $3,000 will be awarded to the winners to be used for furthering their artistic development.

Ken Malone, Executive Director of the Pageant, explains, "I have created the International Talent Pageant to give young ladies a pageant system which would develop incentive to practice and develop their creative and performing arts and also to put the proper emphasis on talent, beauty, poise and personality."

Malone is a former featured dancer on Broadway, television and in night clubs and is currently a dance instructor at Ithaca College in New York State.

"Over 100 communities will be sending delegates to this annual statewide event. Our girls will not only be gaining incentive, but will be practicing good sportsmanship, experiencing friendships and the talents of their peers as well as, joining girls of all races, colors and creeds on a common ground. This is truly a youth development program."

The age of the contestant on December 31, 1974 will determine which age division she will compete in. A phonograph will be provided at the auditions. All other sources of music must be brought to the audition.

Girls who play large instruments such as pianos or organs and those desiring further information, should contact the International Pageant Headquarters, 169 Lake Street, Elmira, N.Y., 14901.

HANDLE WITH CARE...

to save your food dollar

In these days of inflation and food shortages, consumers should get full value from the foods they buy. And proper care of foods from the supermarket to the table has a lot to do with making sure you get that value. Here are a few reminders which are especially important as the weather becomes warmer.

MILK AND EGGS. Never let your groceries sit in the trunk of your car while you make a few more stops. Think about this. It takes a properly refrigerated egg four weeks to lose as much freshness as it will in one hour at 90 degrees. The keeping quality of milk and eggs is directly related to the temperature at which they are stored—and both stay freshest between 37 and 40 degrees. Don't let milk sit on the counter during dinner, either. And keep butter in the freezer. Take out a stick at a time so it's always fresh, (but do not freeze the whipped variety.)

MEATS. Meat also stays freshest at 37-40 degrees. Fresh beef prepackaged for self service should be refrigerated in the original wrapping up to 2 days, or it may be frozen without rewrapping one to two weeks. For freezing, it's a good idea to separate ground beef into patties both for convenience and for quicker, safer freezing and thawing.

IMPORTANT: Always thaw meat in the refrigerator to protect the outer surface until the center is thawed.

FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES. Don't store apples, pears and melons in the same compartments with carrots, celery, cabbage and salad greens. Gas emitted as the fruits "breathe" can turn salad greens brown.

We hear you and we're trying to help!

Only choice coffees from premium growing areas are blended in this can...

You can buy this choice quality coffee everyday at Kroger for less than the national brand and save even more.

Before You Decide, Consider This ...

The Kroger Brand, such as Kroger Coffee, that we make or pack ourselves in our own plants, offer fine quality at lower prices. Because we ship them direct from our plants to our stores, there are no middleman expenses and lower distribution costs. You can share in these savings. All other Kroger Brands are packed to our rigid specifications and carefully spotchecked for quality. Another reason why the Kroger Brand costs less than National Brand counterparts is because we have only a fraction of the advertising and selling expenses that they have. As a result, we can pass real savings on to you through the lower prices of the Kroger brand.
